Dick's Argentina Arrival Heralded

Richard Rieser arrived in Argentina February 8, on his 17th birthday. He was the first American Field Service student from this area to go to the Southern Hemisphere as part of the exchange program.

Dick, as he is known, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rieser, 45 Tarry Lane, Orinda. He has a sister, 13, and a brother, 5.

DICK'S ARRIVAL with 22 other A.F.S. boys and girls from all over the United States was heralded in Argentina. A reception was given in the home of the United States Ambassador.

And at the home of Dr. Lazaro Wasserman, Dick's South American "family," a surprise birthday party was prepared. In a South American magazine, similar to "Time," the party was described this way:

"An informal birthday party with a round cake waited for him in his new home, chosen by the A.F.S., reproducing in a certain way the characteristics of his average home in the town of Orinda, California . . ."

The Wassermans reside in Belgrano. Their son Roberto, 15, shares a room with Dick. The Wasserman daughters are Jorge, 13; and Alicia, 5.5.

FOLLOWING are further excerpts from the South American "Time" reporting the beginning of Dick's six month stay in Argentina:

"He carried transcripts of his qualifications in Miramonte High School with a report from his Spanish teacher, and besides all his equipment for his liking of birds (binoculars, with artificial flowers in order to photograph hummingbirds, nets made of human hair, etc.)

"According to his definition, Rieser is a hardworking and enthusiastic teenager, endowed with a sense of humor and a wide field of interests. These interests—starting with the birds—extends to various sports, especially skiing; moreover, drawing and painting, stuffing birds, making model airplanes, etc."

"Besides his studies, Rieser (son of Kaiser's art director) has completed 'all sorts of work to earn money and pay costs for a trip to Mexico during Christmas vacation.'"

"BETWEEN THIS series of work, he has acquired a knowledge of the care of babies, gardening, ski patrol, scouts instructor, etc. The trip to Mexico had one special objective: knowledge of tropical birds."

"But his working is for something more than the trip, with the left over money, he bought a pair of new skis and binoculars with which to observe birds."

"The Wasserman family doesn't concede their enthusiasm before their new member. Now they are leaving for Mar del Plata ('he can't leave without seeing that'), Pinamar, Miramar and Necochea, and already figured in the plans is a stay in Mendoza for the winter."

In Dick's first letter home, he told his parent of the trip, which was not uneventful. It included a rumor that he was lost in a Florida swamp . . . and ripped new suit pants at the air terminal!"

HIS ONLY complaint about the Wassermans is that he is being too well treated. "I have the front seat in the car and the mother sits in back—believe me I have tried to sit in back and explained, but to no avail."

What's even worse, the whole family waits for me to go through the door first. I get the first dinner—but all this is wearing off and I predict in a few weeks everything will be fine."

Dick also reports that his "family" has a great sense of humor and gets "a big kick" out of his Mad magazines.

Dick writes about going to see "West Side Story" with the family in Mar del Plata. It was in English with Spanish subtitles.

"In the introduction to the film, there must have been 10-12 commercials (in Spanish) from Cleopatra in her Maidenform bra to suntan lotions. He was disappointed in the Argentine's reaction to some of the scenes in West Side Story. Groans and ugs indicated "not another song!"

"The television programs from the U.S. are nearly all in 'lisp' Spanish—if that doesn't look odd . . . 'Untouchables,' 'Highway Patrol' . . ."

THE THREE questions Dick is asked most frequently about America concern Disneyland, gangsters and the price of things.

Dick concludes his first letter home: "Some medical ideas are quite different here. My parents will not let me put too much pepper on my meat—it's bad for the complexion. This coffee thing too. And chilled liquids are terrible for diarrhea—and I like nothing worse than warm coke."

Parents Club Applauds Girls' Service Groups at School

'No Problem' Found by Committee of Advisors

A review of the five high school girls' service clubs existing at Miramonte High School was given to the Parents' Club Board Monday night at the home of President Mrs. William Gillmore.

Mrs. Angus McLeod, inter-club council coordinator read the report. It was compiled by a committee composed of the adult advisors to the clubs.

THE COMMITTEE felt that it shouldn't "apologize" for the clubs' "selectivity." It stated that "if the element of selectivity were removed the attractiveness would be removed." It would follow, in all probability, that the clubs would disband, the committee agreed.

"We feel that girls are going to band together . . . Abolishing the community sponsored service clubs could force the groups underground," stated one committee member.

"Let's face it: selectivity is a fact in our society in everything we do," said an adult advisor. "It's a matter of personal adjustment . . . I don't say it's right. This is just the way it is . . ."

"Some are going to get IN . . . some always are IN . . ."

Principal James Lewis, who attended the meeting, stated that approximately 50 per cent of the junior and senior girls belong to a service club.

CURRENTLY THERE are 325 girls in these two classes. He estimated that the number will decrease from now on.

This is partly due to the recently opened Campolindo High School, which will accommodate Moraga girls who formerly would have gone to Miramonte.

Following a lengthy discussion Program Chairman Al DeGrassi made the following motion, which was unanimously adopted: "The Parents Club Board of Directors of Miramonte High School does not believe that the evidence shows a problem regarding girls' service clubs to exist at Miramonte. Therefore, we take no action on the Acalanes High School Parents Club Board's proposal. We will reconsider suggestions if and when a need should arise."

The Acalanes High School parents' board voted in November to take a position of opposition to the selective means of membership in the clubs. Four of the clubs are at Acalanes High.

THE ONLY other girls' service club existing in the Acalanes Union High School District is at Las Lomas. A Miramonte board member stated that this club is about to disband.

At its last meeting, trustees for the Acalanes Union High School District requested a legal opinion on whether the clubs are under the jurisdiction of the school.

As soon as the decision is rendered by Charles Hemmings, legal counsel to the trustees from the d.a.'s office, the matter will again be placed on the trustees' agenda, according to Superintendent Neil Parsons.

THE DISTRICT trustees will meet Wednesday night. At present time, Hemmings' opinion had not been received. However, there is still a possibility that the matter of jurisdiction over this issue will be decided at Wednesday's meeting.

The Miramonte committee stated that it felt "obligated to clarify the position" of Miramonte's clubs in the light of "adverse publicity."

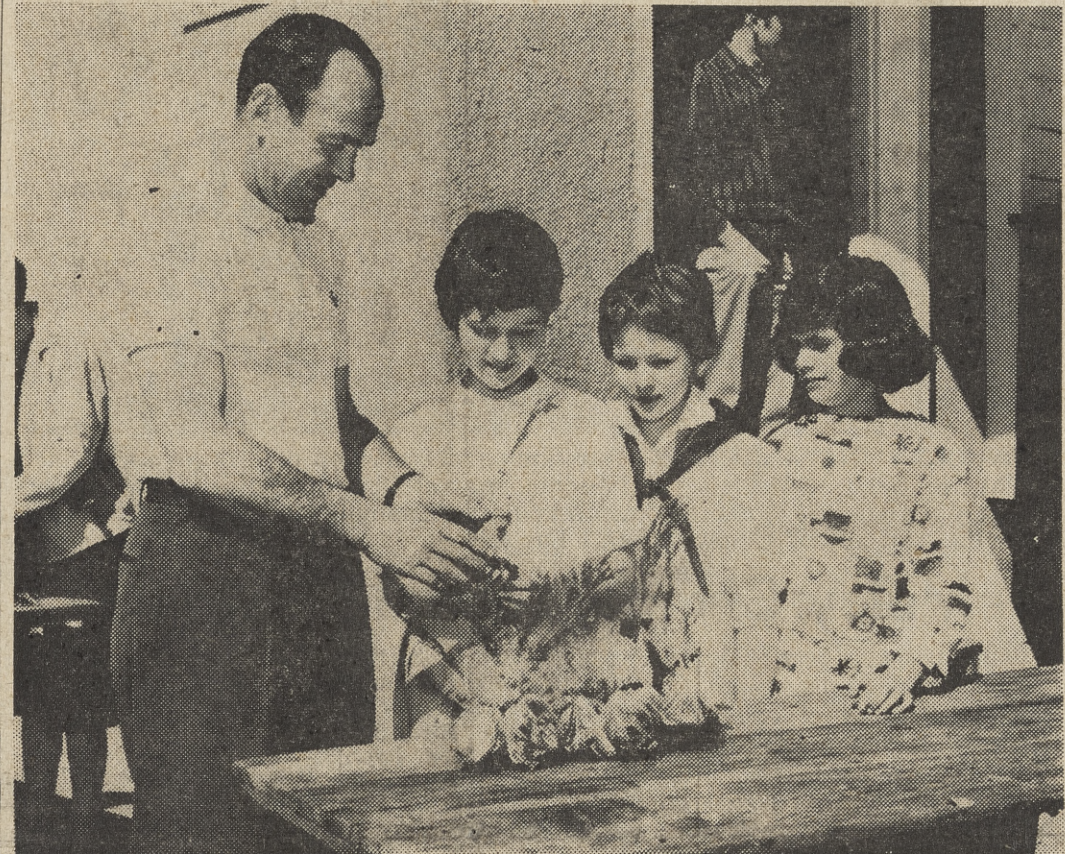

The committee had been asked "to review and evaluate standards of operation of the clubs and their value to the community." Serving on the committee were Mrs. Spencer Archer, Children's Hospital; Mrs. Henry Zacharias, Mt. Diablo Therapy (Tanagers); Mrs. Edward Patterson, Orinda Women's Club; Mrs. Anthony Von Egert, Lincoln Child Center; and Mrs. N. N.

James P. Kenny, chairman of the county's board of supervisors, said yesterday the bridge is now paying for itself "and we think we can get the bondholders to set up a new method of financing."

Reduced Bridge Toll Cost to Be Sought

Contra Costa County's two assembliesmen and State Senator are seeking ways to lower the toll costs of crossing the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge by 25 cents.

James P. Kenny, chairman of the county's board of supervisors, said yesterday the bridge is now paying for itself "and we think we can get the bondholders to set up a new method of financing."

FRANK ISOLA HANDS OUT TREES TO THREE FIFTH GRADERS

Future 'Big Trees'?

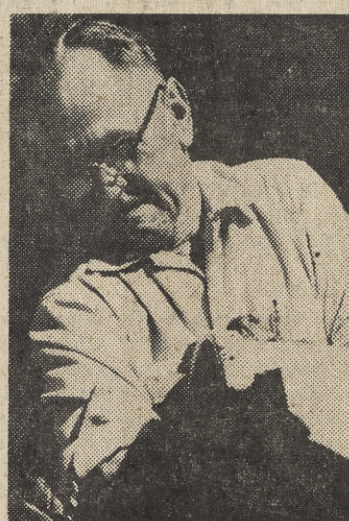

Over 300 trees were given away at Orinda School Wednesday to children in the Orinda Union School District in commemoration of Conservation Week.

The redwood seedling trees were obtained from Milton R. Bell, University of California agricultural advisor. They came from the Critchfield Tree Farm, St. Helena.

The 3800 trees would cover a 700 acre forest, Isola estimated. They are sequoia gigantea redwoods—the largest tree on earth.

Mrs. Basil Winslow, 31 Charles Hill Road, Orinda, met Bell at the wilderness conference. He informed her that the tree farm was making seedlings available to the schools.

BASIL WINSLOW Helps: Operation trees

MRS. WINSLOW contacted Joseph Sheaff, district superintendent. Sheaff stated that he had also heard of the trees through County Superintendent of Schools Floyd Marchus.

When the seedlings were sent to the school, they were massed together. Mothers volunteered to work at long tables to separate them. They put each seedling in peat moss, and then in a cellophane bag.

This was done carefully so that the seedlings' roots would not be damaged.

THE ORINDA Beautification committee also helped in the process of packing and distributing the trees. The committee was given 200 of the 4000 seedlings sent to Orinda. These will be used at a future date, according to Chairman Anne Pollack.

The Moraga Valley Nursery has "hilled" the committee's seedlings until the committee is ready to plant them.

Only complaint from the parents and children who received trees was: "We want more!"

Postal Confusion To Be Meet Topic

The Moraga-Rheem Post Office issue, which dates back to 1956, may be settled by Washington. The Rheem California Land Company also shed light on the mix-up this week.

Answers to questions on the proposed postal survey in the Rheem area of Moraga will be read at a public meeting of the Moraga Valley Community Club. It will convene at 8 p.m. in the all purpose room of the Donald L. Rheem School, at the top of Donald Drive, Moraga.

ON BEHALF of the community club, President R. J. Kostyrka has written to Senator Thomas H. Kuchel, Senator Clair Engle, Congressman John F. Baldwin, Jr., and Postmaster General J. Edward Day requesting enlightenment on the postal survey.

The proposed postal survey, with its impact on our community, is of vital interest to the area," wrote Kostyrka. Replies to his inquiries will be read at the Monday meeting.

TRUSTEES of the Moraga School District unanimously adopted at its last meeting, a resolution that any attempt to diminish the historic significance of Moraga's identity "will be resisted with vigor."

The school board sent copies of this resolution to all interested parties, from Washington, D.C. to St. Mary's College.

The resolution noted the strong feeling of residents in retaining the historical name "Moraga."

Further excerpts: "A single community identity unites the residents in support of school or other community activities in any part of the area . . . All discussion by long-time residents of the Bay Area is in terms of Moraga and Moraga Valley . . . Citizens should resist attempts to eradicate place names believing that the rush of 'progress' will inexorably take its toll of natural features, buildings and landmarks . . ."

Postal delivery service from the post office in Rheem Center would mean changing the name of the area within the delivery boundaries to "Rheem."

The only request which has come from the Rheem California Land Company is to officially change the name of the Rheem Post Office to Rheem Valley Post Office, according to Mortimer F. Withoff, vice president.

"Our original request to Congressman Baldwin was only to change the name of the Rheem Post Office. At that time we inquired whether or not a local delivery service to the business area was feasible. No request from this office to change the Moraga delivery service now in effect was made," said Withoff.

"IN ORDER to change the name and comply with the postal regulations we found it necessary to acquire signatures on a petition of the majority of Boxholders at Rheem, which has been accomplished."

"It was not the intention to change any delivery service now in effect from the Moraga Post Office."

"It is, and has always been, the sincere desire of Rheem California Land Company to aid and support the historical Moraga area, and we feel we must all cooperate together to make this area most desired," said Withoff.

Flood Survey for Sleepy Hollow

"Would you like a flood control survey?"

This question was mailed to the 330 homes in the Sleepy Hollow Improvement Association in February. Votes were counted last night. Although the results were not in at press time, there was an indication that residents were strongly in favor of a survey.

IT WAS decided to put the matter before the people in ballot form after a meeting of the association with Hacienda Homes, Inc. and the County Public Works Director Vic Sauer.

Sauer suggested that the two associations join forces in resolving the flood situation as they are in the same watershed. He stated that if the homeowners showed sufficient interest by petition or resolution by their association board of directors, the county board of supervisors would approve a survey of the area.

Sauer said that the county would then present a detailed report of area requirements to minimize flood damage. Entire cost of such a survey would be borne by the county, he stated.

FURTHER PETITION would possibly result in establishing a special district with various methods of financing, Sauer explained.

Representing the S. H. association at the meeting were outgoing President Philip Fields and incoming President Monte Haslett. Hacienda Homes, Inc. was represented by President Murray MacNeil and Secretary-Treasurer Arthur Smith.

Hacienda's boundaries extend from El Toyonal down Miner Road, past Sleepy Hollow.

MOST SERIOUS flood problem in Sleepy Hollow, according to Fields, is at Tappan Lane and Tarry Lane (especially at the intersection) and at the creek and culvert at the entrance to S.H.

The S.H. board decided to put the matter up to the people since it was time for election of three new directors.

The new directors are Rudy

Grah, John Williams and Robert Ehrhardt. They were elected last night to serve two years.

Fields will remain on the board for one year.

OUTGOING DIRECTORS are Vaughan Smallwood, Percy Dawson and Stephen Stewart. Remaining on the board under Haslett will be Robert Moe, Owen Owens, and Robert Williams.

Treasurer DeLoss Winkler reported that $414.94 is amount of cash on hand. He stated that the board expected to add to this by proceeds of a cocktail party in May.

'Caesar and Cleo' Will Open Soon

"Caesar and Cleopatra" will be presented at Miramonte High School March 28-29-30 at 8:15 p.m.

The senior play tickets are available at the door—$1.25 for adults, 75 cents for students.

Accident Story Is Misleading

A story in The Sun March 1 reported an accident in which Mrs. Thelma R. Harney, 59, of 193 Crestview Drive, Orinda, was involved.

The story stated that Mrs. Harney was forced off the road near her home by an approaching car.

The Sun did not know the details of the accident and relied on the report of the California Highway Patrol.

This report stated Mrs. Harney's version of the accident. The Sun's story did not make this point clear.

More Light on 'Orinda'

Latest to shed some light on The Sun's quest to discover the meaning of "Orinda" is Mark Noble, 6 Crane Court, Orinda.

In response to the article "By Any Other Name—Would Orinda?" Noble wrote the following letter:

IT SEEMS to me that the reference to Alice March Cameron, daughter of the pioneer settler John Marsh, and her naming her estate 'Orinda Park' has the soundest authenticity. However, this does not solve the origin of the name Orinda.

"In the 1955 Fiesta program to which Marie Monahan refers, the late Galen M. Fisher stated that one of the treasured books carried across the country by Mrs. Cameron was a book of poems by Katherine Philips; and that P. W. Souer's biography of poet Philips referred to her as 'The Matchless Orinda.'"

"So far so good."

"NOW LET US go back to the end of the 17th century and we find that John Dryden in one of his odes refers to Orinda, which from the gist of the poem, appears to have been a beautiful celestial being.

"This ode can be found in 'The Harvard Classics,' volume 40, pages 394-397. It is prefaced 'To the Pious Memory of the accomplished young lady Mrs. Anna Killigrew, excellent in two sister arts of Poetry and Painting.'"

"I quote a portion of the last stanza on page 396:

"In earth the much lamented virgin lies.

Not wit, nor piety could fate prevent;

Nor wait the cruel destiny content

To finish all the murder at a blow,

To sweep at once her life and beauty too;

But, like a harden'd felon, took a pride

To work more mischievously slow,

And plunder'd just, and then destroy'd.

O double sacrilege on things divine.

To rob the relic, and deface the shrine!

But thus Orinda died: Heaven, by the same disease

did both translate;

As equal were their souls, so equal was their fate."

"It may seem odd that Dryden refers to Mrs. Killigrew as that 'much lamented virgin,' however, it can be better understood from the first line of the poem: 'Thou youngest virgin—daughter of the skies.'"

"THUS IT WOULD seem that Dryden was aware of a goddess or celestial body named Orinda, that probably the poet Philips or biographer Souer was familiar with the writings of Dryden to account for Katherine Philips being referred to as 'Matchless Orinda'; that Mrs. Cameron, captivated by the euphonic named called her estate 'Orinda Park'; and that the name was later transferred to the near community now known as Orinda.

"In conclusion I would like to point out that a letter like this could be written only by a retired man with plenty of idle time on his hands."

(Ed. Note: For which we thank you, Mr. Noble)

Ground Is Broken For Tallest Orinda Building

Ground was broken recently for a 40 foot building on Vashel Way, in the area behind Casa Orinda. It will be the tallest building in Orinda.

Owners are Alfred M. Pettler and Maynard Buehler, both of whom now have offices in the Orinda Plaza in the village.

The Lafayette architectural firm of Craig and Daniloff designed the building. Harold Spiegel of Berkeley is the builder.

THERE WILL BE four stories. County restrictions allow a 50 foot height to a building. There is no restriction as to how many stories.

The ground floor will have a covered parking area and a shop.

Two floors above that will be for office space. And at the top will be a penthouse office.

There will be no sidewalks or side yard, according to the building permit.

Vashel Way, behind Casa Orinda, is a street 18-feet wide. It was recently paved by the county upon orders by the County Board of Supervisors.

However, the Public Works

Department says that it is not a county road nor is it maintained by the county. Work done on it is only by specific order of the board, according to the department.

A REQUEST for an animal hospital to be allowed under a land use permit in the building was turned down by the county recently.

"How can a skyscraper be erected in Orinda?" asked John Gibbert, who owns property on either side of the Pettler-Buehler property. He stated that he met with resistance at the local level when he announced his intention to put multiples on his land, now zoned residential.

GIBBERT STATED that he had opposed the "skyscraper" in previous hearings before the county; however he was unaware of the date which the building permit was finally issued.

Gibbert stated that in the fiscal year 1962-63, taxes on his unimproved property jumped from approximately $125 to $625. He attributed this to the county's reappraisal of the land.

His two pieces of property comprise approximately one acre.

Gibbert stated that he believed a medical building was going to be proposed for the corner opposite the "skyscraper"—at Davis Road and Bates Boulevard.

Camp-Out Is At Pinnacle Natl. Monument

Boy Scout Troop 237 took an overnight trip to Pinnacles National Monument recently.

Accompanying the troop were Scoutmaster Walter Schneider, Parker Stack, assistant, and Eugene Palmer.

Eighteen boys participated. Included in the outing was camping, hiking, cooking and nature study.

Among other activities, the troop recently spent a day cleaning up the planted boxes and planting areas in the crossroads and village.

Travel Talk Time

When the Mel Carbones left last Saturday for a three-month vacation to Europe, they left their cares behind them as well as five madly waving daughters who didn't mind at all being left home with the grandmother they call "Doll."

The name, Mrs. Mary Adele Tilden laughs, has nothing to do with the modern-day connotation and is derived from early days when the oldest granddaughter was a mere toddler and couldn't pronounce Grandmom, picked up the "Adele" and turned it into Doll.

THE NAME certainly suits for the five Carbone daughters are as delighted to have Grandmother staying with them as she is to assume Mom's role for the next 90 days. (The only trouble is telling who's taking care of who, the pampering and pandemonium-fun work both ways.)

Brian T. Prinn is retiring master counselor.

Refreshments will be served in the social hall by the mothers' club. There will be dancing till midnight.

Trips to the mailbox will be full of expectancy for the postcards that have already started arriving. Mel, whose business is partnership in Carbone Orchids in Berkeley, expects to buy a Mercedes in Stuttgart and take wife and Mom Peg (who looks like a pretty young teenager herself) on a sort of second honeymoon.

THEY'LL EXPLORE Europe in a "follow our whims" way after arrival on the S.S. United States. Arden skiers, the Carbones will be in Switzerland and Austria at the height of the ski season, will later relax on the southern Italy Riviera, do the chateauroute with a stay in the castles of France and eventually return home via a leisurely sailing aboard the Westerdam. The first postal told of a White House visit made possible by Mrs. Tilden's brother-in-law, Hal Fredericks of the Federal Aeronautics Authority.

The five young ladies left home with Grandmother Tilden are June, 13, a versatile athlete, Girl Scout, cook and champ swimmer of Orinda Park Pool team; Kris, 10, who takes after her older sister in swimming and scout activities; twins Alison and Andrea, 7, who take after their older sisters and Tricia, 3, who tags along doing the same with the rest of the four and inherits the dolls when their interests turn to other things.

MATERNAL Grandmother Tilden has launched a tradition with her five granddaughters and as each reaches the age of eight, she takes them off to Palm Springs with her. The twins' trip is coming up soon with the advent of THAT birthday and you can bet they are excited.

Grandma? She's a "Doll" literally!

Halls' Sons Finish Schools

Army 2d Lt. John C. Hall, 23, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Hall, 72 Davis Road, Orinda, recently completed a 39-week officer fixed-wing aviator course at the Aviation School, Fort Rucker, Ala.

Another son, James D. Hall, received his degree from the University of Arizona last month.

Lieutenant Hall was instructed in piloting observation and utility airplanes.

He was employed as a landscape architect by Robert M. Graves before entering the army in January, 1962.

A member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, John attended Utah State University and Michigan State University.

EDWIN TODD, manager of the Orinda office of the Central Valley National Bank, will attend a system-wide meeting of the bank's managers in Oakland tomorrow.

"Plotting the course for 1963" will be the theme of the conference. Founder - President Charles P. Partridge said.

TWO ORINDA men have completed the course of studies leading to the Certificate in Real Estate awarded by University of California Extension in cooperation with the Contra Costa Real Estate Board and the California Real Estate Association.

Reed H. Chase, 540 Miner Rd., and William A. Montagne, of 31 Normandy Lane, are among 28 Northern California realtors to earn the certificate this spring.

Hats Off To...

Aileen Deahl, Scouts, Schools, Civic Booster

TWO DOZEN DAFFODILS please, for Aileen (Mrs. Thomas) Deahl who takes meetings in her stride . . . and leadership of Girl Scouts in her pride.

A resident of her Orinda for 12 years, her attendance record at school board meetings rates an "E" for Every meeting and Effort. She has scarcely missed a one during the past five years and feels that these meetings are "an integral part of community life, giving a deeper understanding of our growing school system."

A conscientious citizen who has participated actively in all phases of school and civic life, she has served on several Parents' Club boards, is a member of A.A.U.W., is frequently tapped for educational chairmanships since this is her specialty.

A GRADUATE of U.C. where she majored in psychology, she's right in her element working with seventh grade Scouts of Troop 309 and has been their troop leader since 'way back when the same girls were third grade Brownies. Her daughter Joanne, 12½, is active in this troop while Ellen, 15, a senior Scout, has her mother helping with the exciting plans for the goodwill tour she'll take with Troop 156 to Mexico this summer. The Miramonte group will stay at the Girl Scouts Cabana in Cuernavaca, one of the two GS hostels in the world, the other being in Switzerland.

For the noticeable twinkle in her eyes, Aileen gives credit to her chemist-husband Tom, who gives her "full moral support" in whatever she pursues civically.

County-Wide School Tax: Almost All 'Gravy'

Only Orinda Union School District, of nine central county districts, would stand to lose anything in the county-wide portion of the so-called "Robin Hood" county-wide tax proposals being considered by the state legislature.

The rest — Alamo, Canyon, Danville Union, Lafayette, Walnut Creek, Acalanes, San Ramon Valley Union and Mount Diablo Unified—would gain from partial equalization of county school taxes.

But the county-wide tax accounts for only a part—about one-fifth—of the additional income to schools which would result from passage of a bill supported by both the State Board of Education and the California Teachers Association.

And all nine schools would stand to benefit from the new injection of state funds proposed in the legislation.

DISTRICTS in the county which would pay for the county-wide tax benefits to be received in the central area are, in addition to Orinda and its small contribution, those with a broad industrial tax base, primarily Pittsburg and Antioch Unified. The latter districts recently spoke up against the legislation, and 10th District Assemblyman Jerome Waldie has added his powerful voice to the outcry.

But in the central county area, there has been little discussion of the proposal—perhaps because of its complexity.

ACTUALLY, The Sun learned this week, there are two proposals seriously considered in the legislature: The administration's bill (Assembly Bill 1000, Crown) calls for redistributing $25 million in district taxes in counties throughout the state, and adding about $30 million in state funds. The CTA and board-backed bill, introduced by Assemblyman Charles B. Garrigus, would have the same county-wide method of reapportioning the $25 million, but would add about $100 million in state funds.

PRIMARY PURPOSE of the Garrigus bill, according to CTA Associate Secretary Jack Rees, is to restore a balance to local and state support of education.

Speaking at a recent legislative seminar for school representatives, Rees explained that the local property tax, by and large, is paying for over 54 per cent of school budgets.

The state, on the other hand, pays about 40 per cent.

Some ten years ago, Rees maintains, the balance was more equitable, with state and local property owner paying about 47 per cent each.

MOREOVER, Rees claims, the shift in support is continuing; he estimates the state will have paid only 37 per cent during the current school year.

Assemblyman Waldie, at the same seminar, acknowledged that the 50-50 formula for school support had "eroded" over the years, but attacked the county-wide tax as a "new tax which would set a dangerous precedent."

"The State of California has always said that the property tax should be reserved to local governments," Waldie said.

The county-wide tax, he claimed, would be the first state property tax ever assessed.

But the tax, CTA counters, is to be collected under state legislation by local agencies and redistributed by local agencies.

Both bills, according to CTA, call for redistribution of the first 50 or 60 cents of existing school district taxes. In some cases, CTA claims, a tax reduction might result for the poorer districts.

The rough estimates of the effects of the county-wide portion of the legislation may be seen in the accompanying table.

The effects of the balance of the Garrigus bill are harder to determine, and several school administrators are busy figuring them out.

ROUGHLY speaking, the bill provides for a guaranteed "foundation program" of around $250 per elementary school pupil, $343 per high school pupil.

Beyond this point, "variable foundation program" funds are added by the state in proportion to the amount of local tax levied.

The Garrigus bill, according to CTA researchers, would thus bring more money to all schools with less than $21,677 (for elementary schools) or $44,000 (for high schools) assessed valuation per pupil.

Districts with higher assessed valuation, the so-called "wealthy" districts, include only Carquinez, Port Costa, Selby, John Swett, Antioch and Pittsburg in this county.

These districts, CTA concedes, do better for themselves under their present tax set-ups than they would under the proposed legislation.

A New Tax -- Waldie

In Sacramento Wednesday, Assemblyman Jerome Waldie emphasized his stand against the county-wide tax proposal.

Observers admit Waldie is in a tight political position regarding the tax for two reasons:

1. Governor Edmund G. Brown, whose recent veto threat did Waldie's transit bill no good, strongly backs the Crown county-wide tax bill.

2. The majority of Waldie's constituents in the 10th District live in so-called "impoverished" school districts, while the district also contains two of the "wealthiest" school districts, Pittsburg and Antioch.

"If I were voting for political expedience, I would back the bill," Waldie told The Sun. "But I simply think it is a bad bill, and I intend to vote against it."

DESPITE Waldie's nay vote and his pivotal position on the Education Committee, the Crown bill, which involves $55 million, will probably pass the assembly, the legislator believes.

But the Garrigus bill, which provides for over $100 million, Waldie said, won't go far, simply because there is a certain amount of money in the budget.

The predicted fate of the Garrigus bill is important to Waldie's case.

Discussing the legislation several weeks ago, Waldie noted that the county-wide tax provides about 45 per cent of the Crown bill's funds.

"It's obvious that $55 million isn't enough to restore the balance between the local and state share of educational support," he said at that time.

AS A CONSEQUENCE, a much larger portion of whatever benefit the local "impoverished" districts receive would come from the "wealthy" districts than would under the Garrigus bill.

"The tax is a new tax and is a state property tax," Waldie insisted Wednesday.

If equalization is to come about, it should come from existing state tax resources, through the state's general fund, he said.

Earlier, Waldie said that Governor Brown was backing the less expensive Crown bill because he knew nothing larger could be financed without additional state taxes.

And the governor had promised "no new taxes" in his campaign.

Because, Waldie said, the county-wide tax is a new tax, it is a violation of that campaign promise.

Table Estimates Effect Of County-Wide Measure

The table shows the estimated effects of only the county-wide tax feature of proposed legislation. Figures are approximate, based on estimated average daily attendance and assessed valuation at present, as well as a CTA formula for computing the gain or loss to a district.

School	County-Wide Tax Yield Per Pupil (60 cents, elementary; 50 cents, high school)	Present Yield Same Tax	Increase Per Pupil
Alamo	$66.34	$62.54	$3.80
Canyon	$66.34	$51.45	$14.89
Danville	$66.34	$60.00	$6.34

Over-Burdened Courts Try New Legal Tactic

An attempt to clear legal congestion in Contra Costa Superior Courts by means of a streamlined pre-trial procedure has been initiated by the county.

Officials hope it will end delays as long as two years for important trials of civil actions.

The process is known as the "settlement conference," a preliminary meeting between judge and opposing attorneys to work out possible out-of-court settlements.

San Joaquin County Superior Judge Robert B. Sullivan, sitting at the first conference last week, explained the process.

FIRST, opposing attorneys will present arguments in the case, he said.

The judge will then recommend a settlement based on their statements.

If both lawyers agree to the settlement, the case is dropped. If, however, either lawyer objects, a regular pre-trial date will be set.

The courts are notorious for their overcrowding. Master Calendar Clerk Richard A. Steiner has claimed that two new superior courts are needed to handle civil and criminal matters.

NEXT TUESDAY the board of supervisors will consider the creation of an eighth superior court, a move recommended by the county bar association last week.

The county grand jury, too, has urged the board to ask the state legislature to set up a new court before 1965.

Settlement conferences, adopted by the State Judicial Council last year, went into effect January 1.

When a civil case has been filed for 30 days, the procedure demands, the master calendar clerk send conference invitations to opposing attorneys.

There is no requirement, however, that either attorney accept.

Alcoholism and The Family Is Expert's Topic

"Is Alcohol a Family Problem?" is the subject of a talk by an international authority and lecturer on the problems of alcoholism and narcotics at the third in a four part series on Mental Health Is a Family Affair on Wednesday, 8 p.m., sponsored by the Contra Costa County Mental Health Association under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert T. Adams of Lafayette, Speakers Bureau chairman.

Joel Fort, M.D., director of the Center for Treatment and Education on Alcoholism for Alameda-Contra Costa, will discuss new techniques for treatment; prevention among the young people; services to non-alcoholic families; how uncontrolled drinking affects the total family situation, and changes in drinking practices.

In Washington, hopes are pinned primarily on the "Truth in Packaging" bill introduced recently by Senator Clair Engle (Dem.-Calif.) and Senator Philip Hart (Dem.-Mich.).

THE LEGISLATION is designed to eliminate confusing

By WALT WRIGHT

At two schools in Walnut Creek this week deceptive packaging and short weighting were important subjects for students and adults alike.

At Buena Vista School, A. L. Seeley, county agricultural commissioner and sealer of weights and measures, and supervising weights and measures inspector Arnold B. Coon presented a program yesterday for students.

At the same school last night, Dr. Jessie B. Coles, University of California home economics professor, spoke on the state consumer council.

Wednesday night Mort Colodny represented consumer council director Helen Nelson at a meeting at Las Lomas High School.

WHILE THE consumer groups and lobbies have some healthy critics, they have succeeded in either arousing or channeling a growing concern of the layman over the confusing and occasionally deceptive package.

Reflecting that concern politically are state and federal proposals designed to make buying an intelligible—and perhaps—enjoyable activity.

In Washington, hopes are pinned primarily on the "Truth in Packaging" bill introduced recently by Senator Clair Engle (Dem.-Calif.) and Senator Philip Hart (Dem.-Mich.).

THE LEGISLATION is designed to eliminate confusing

and deceptive packaging on thousands of kitchen, bathroom and household products.

Senator Engle has said, "This bill is meant to restore rational buying to the market place and to remove to a considerable degree the gauntlet of psychological traps, successive confusions and outright deceptions that today's housewife must face whenever she passes down a supermarket aisle."

"Such practices operate as a blindfold to prevent consumers from getting the information they need and deserve from the packages of the products they buy."

"We believe that enforced honesty and straightforwardness in the market place can save the careful housewife hundreds of dollars each year."

"AND THIS bill provides many benefits for the manufacturer, too. It will provide him with greater security in marketing packaged and labeled goods—a security derived from a clear understanding of how basic information should be presented on the package and from the comforting knowledge that all of his competitors must abide by the same standards," the senator claims.

The bill has already been assured support of the Kennedy administration.

Its provisions include: 1) Net weight will have to be printed prominently on the front panel of all packages.

2) Packages can carry no illustrations that can deceive the consumer as to content.

3) No more "cents-off" deals are to be introduced this session.

They include: SB 377—requires net weight statement of bread to appear on wrapper in letters of minimum height to 1/4-inch; where end seals are used, net weight statement must appear on end seals as well as body of wrapper.

SB 378—requires statement of net quantity to appear on the principal display panel of a container, rather than on the top or sides, the size of such marking is to be governed by the area of the display panel.

SB 342—provides that whenever the attorney general finds a plan to defraud or any illegal business which affects a large part of the public, he is authorized to institute and maintain proceedings or intervene in any proceeding in any proper court or before any administrative agency to protect or assert the rights of the public and to obtain appropriate relief.

AT THE SAME TIME, Governor Edmund G. Brown was expected to have delivered by today the first comprehensive message on consumer issues from a California governor to the legislature in history.

The governor's specific recommendations are expected to include particular legislation on packaging and labeling.

Whether or not one approves the legislation, all will admit that its passage will start the inversion of an old, old saying. From now on it may be, "Let the seller beware!"

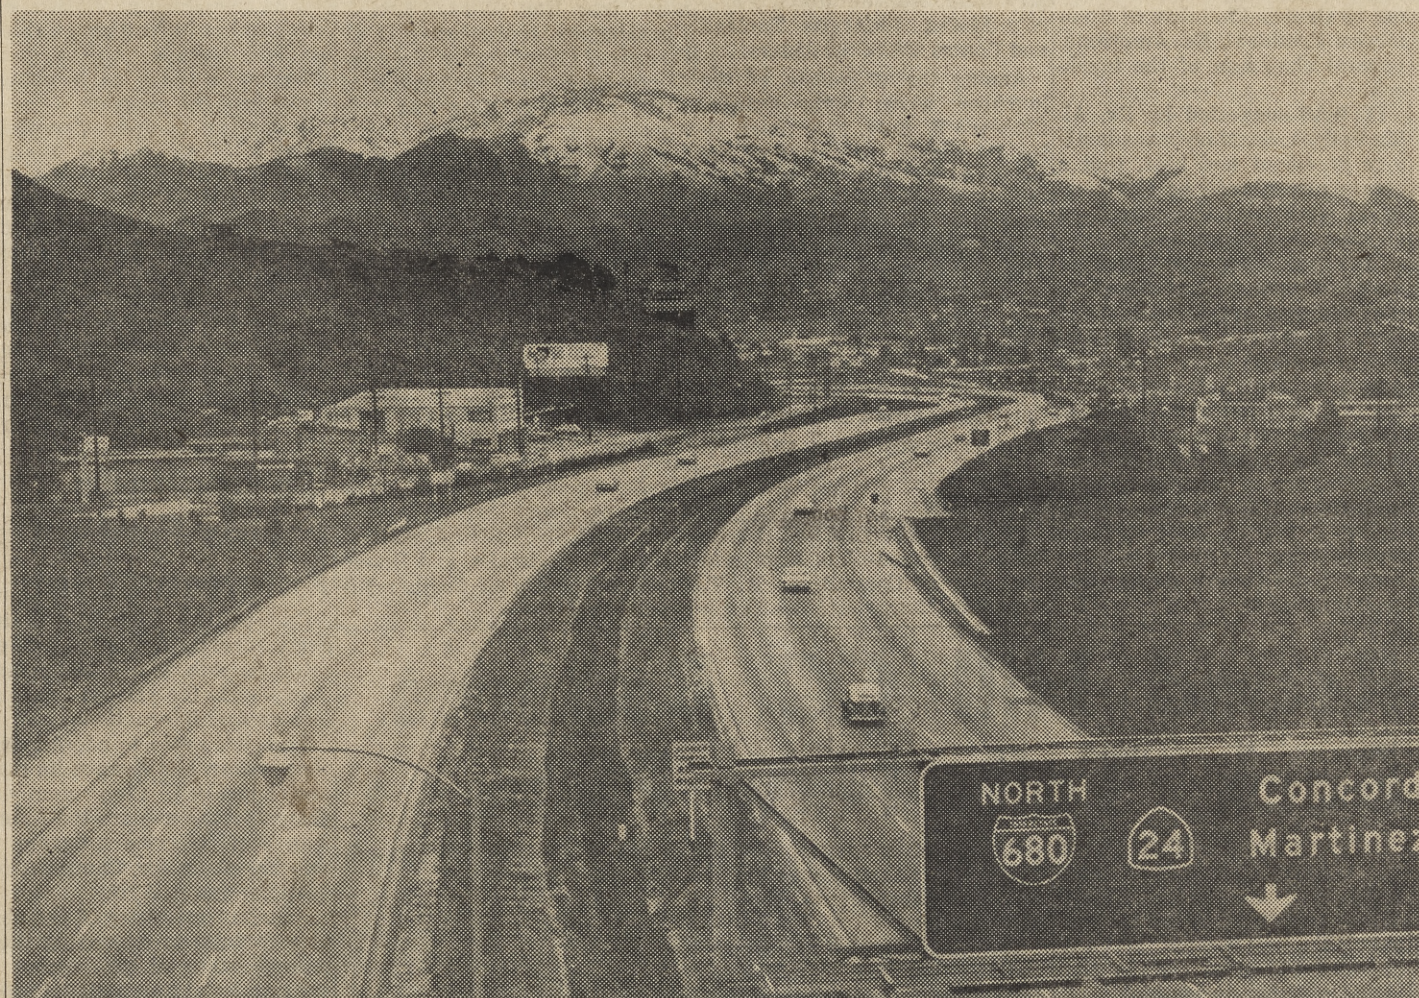

In Sacramento several "consumer bills" have been or special alert to handle the traffic. The white was fading by week's end, as snow melted into the ground with little run-off. According to Park Ranger Gordon Sears, snows in February of last year left four inches on the peak.

Transit-Waldie Deal Threatened

Spring Comes to Mt. Diablo

STRANGE GARB—Rugged Mt. Diablo donned a white cape last week end and greeted the first day of spring (yesterday) with cold dignity. Storms dropped as much as ten inches of snow on the peak and drew such crowds from the entire Bay Area that the California Highway Patrol was put on special alert to handle the traffic. The white was fading by week's end, as snow melted into the ground with little run-off. According to Park Ranger Gordon Sears, snows in February of last year left four inches on the peak.

'No Favoritism,' Says Stokes; Dist. Reneging?

The proposed "compromise" between Bay Area Rapid Transit District and Assemblyman Jerome Waldie over the extension of transit service to eastern Contra Costa is no lead-pipe cinch.

Waldie told The Sun Wednesday that he will ask for specific language in a resolution which the BARTD board will act on next Thursday—language which guarantees "first priority" to Antioch and Pittsburg in extension of service.

But at least three district spokesmen told The Sun that the district will attempt to avoid the specific language that might enrage other areas.

Waldie and district counsel Wallace L. Kaepke are now struggling over the precise wording of the resolution.

AND NO ONE can say for sure that the district board will approve the resolution, no matter how much Wallace or Kaepke like the wording.

"The resolution will not state specifics," board member Harry Morrison Jr. said Monday. "It will only say that we will give priority to extending lines within the district rather than outside it."

The district has the legal right, Morrison explained, to construct rails and facilities outside the three-county district.

"It has developed that Waldie's primary concern was for the district as a whole and that we construct lines within the district before, say, San Mateo County," Information Director B. R. Stokes said.

BUT THE Pittsburg-Antioch line is only one of three extensions proposed within the district itself.

In effect, Stokes conceded, the resolution would give no guarantee to Pittsburg-Antioch over the Pleasanton-Livermore line in southern Alameda County or over the proposed Geary line in San Francisco.

"We can't show favoritism within the district," Stokes said. "We would only name Pittsburg—and Livermore—as examples," he said.

Waldie indicated Wednesday he wouldn't sit still for such a resolution, and would work to carry out his legislative threat if the proper wording weren't forthcoming.

"I WILL INSIST that the eastern end of Contra Costa have priority number one, the Assembly said flatly.

The vital difference of opinion over the resolution gave the lie to apparent agreement between the two parties which seemed to exist last week when district President Adrien Falk hailed Waldie's concession as "a fair and just compromise."

It also squelched hints that Governor Edmund G. Brown had knocked the wind out of Waldie's position with his recent veto threat.

"WE WERE never sure Waldie might not get his bill passed," one transit official said last week. "You don't take chances with a legislator of Waldie's stature," he added.

And Waldie himself said he thought he had won "a tremendous concession" from the district in the agreement to develop lines inside the district first.

The resolution cannot bind a future transit board, Waldie acknowledged.

"It would be a declaration of intention which would have to be policed," he told The Sun. "And, if necessary, I'll police it myself from Sacramento."

While his transit compromise last week stilled the voices of many of Assemblyman Jerome Waldie's critics, the 10th District assemblyman was assailed from the "other side" this week by "Citizens for Reconsideration of Rapid Transit Taxes."

"Any compromise between Assemblyman Jerome Waldie and BARTD will mean nothing to San Francisco and many cities of Contra Costa and Southern Alameda counties," charged Alex Gaeta, the anti-transit group's chairman.

The agreement, at least on the district's part, "is not only illegal, but holds up false hopes for many communities," Gaeta said.

He urged total dissolution of the district and establishment of a new one as "the only sure way to get service for all."

Waldie-BARTD Compromise 'Illegal'-Gaeta

While his transit compromise last week stilled the voices of many of Assemblyman Jerome Waldie's critics, the 10th District assemblyman was assailed from the "other side" this week by "Citizens for Reconsideration of Rapid Transit Taxes."

"Any compromise between Assemblyman Jerome Waldie and BARTD will mean nothing to San Francisco and many cities of Contra Costa and Southern Alameda counties," charged Alex Gaeta, the anti-transit group's chairman.

The agreement, at least on the district's part, "is not only illegal, but holds up false hopes for many communities," Gaeta said.

He urged total dissolution of the district and establishment of a new one as "the only sure way to get service for all."

PART OF Waldie's reason for offering to withdraw the bill was that he was convinced it would wreck the district by preventing sale of bonds.

If he and BARTD don't agree on a resolution, however, he will work to pass an amended version of the bill he halted in committee last week, he said.

"I don't want to wreck the district, and never have; I'll simply change the bill."

Waldie's proposal, endorsed by a 3-2 vote of the board of supervisors, was to withdraw from construction-fund tax rolls the industry-rich east county area until service was extended.

ENTHUSIASTIC about the proposal, Supervisor Mel F. Nielsen added several surrounding communities and hundreds of square miles to the proposed exempt area.

Waldie said that until legislative and bond counsel advised that bonds could not be sold if the bill were passed "I could have brought the bill out of the committee at any time."

Regarding Brown's veto threat, the assemblyman said he knew beforehand that Brown did not like the bill.

"But I'd also been told the governor would make his decision only when the bill came before him to be signed," he said.

WEEKEND WEATHER FORECAST

A cool but not cold weekend was forecast by the U.S. Weather Bureau for the central county.

Highs are expected to range from 60-65 degrees; low, 45-50 degrees.

TODAY—rain. (80 per cent chance).

SATURDAY—clearing.

SUNDAY—continued fair weather.

SPRING SPRINGS

Well, do you have a new bounce in your step, since yesterday? You know it was the first day of spring.

The leprechauns and little people have all scurried away to wherever they go after St. Patrick's Day.

Speaking of St. Patrick's Day, one of our teachers was born on the day of the green, and probably named for St. Patrick himself! He is Pat Freitas, our eighth grade teacher. And in honor of his birthday his eighth grade homeroom had a party and cake to celebrate.

NEWCOMERS UNITE!

Lou Avery, the Newcomers Club president for the coming year, informs me the club is having an installation luncheon and fashion show tomorrow at the Concord Inn. There will be a short meeting and installation of officers, then a fashion show, given by Fashion Country Club Togs of Orinda Village. Mary Naylor, owner, will be commentator.

Standing committee chairmen for the Newcomers are: membership chairman, Mrs. Oscar Paris; activities coordinator, R. E. Cron; hospitality chairman, Mrs. Ronald Genova; publicity, William Poor, Jr.; bulletin, Mrs. Roger MacLean, and sunshine committee, Mrs. Clifford Verbridge.

Louise Hubbard is handling the publicity for the luncheon coming up. The club will be having its regular meeting at the Donald L. Rheem School April 2. Elinor Dickinson, our postmaster, will speak to the group about Old Moraga. She is bringing pictures and slides to go along with her talk.

Any new residents in the area who would like to join Newcomers may contact Mrs. Paris, membership chairman. The club has groups to suit any one's taste, from gourmet dinners to golf and knitting, folk dancing, bridge and many others, you name it.

Informal coffees are held throughout the area in the afternoons and evenings to get acquainted with new residents.

MORAGA NEWCOMERS PLAN LUNCHEON
Mmes. Richard Avery, Vincent Keilman, R. E. Cron
Tomorrow will be spring date at Concord Inn

Lou would like to applaud the outgoing officers for a job well done. They are: president, Mrs. V. F. Keilman; vice president, W. E. Hyde; secretary, Mrs. S. Mountsier, and treasurer, Mrs. H. S. Dyer. The officers to be installed Saturday are: president, Mrs. Richard W. Avery; vice president, Mrs. Daniel C. Knall; secretary, Mrs. Harold Hartmann, and the treasurer will be elected at the meeting. The one already chosen has been transferred from our area! Isn't this typical of this area?

NEWSY NAMES. Burt and Gloria Enstrom of Sanders Drive are the proud new parents of a boy, named Jon Christopher. The stork dropped the 7 lb. 6 1/2 oz. bundle of boy March 8 at the Merritt Hospital in Oakland. Gloria and Burt have two other children, a boy and a girl.

Jean Otosen, leader of troop 244, informs me the Brownies took a trip to the roller skating rink in Walnut Creek Saturday. A good fallen down time was had by all.

Speaking of Brownies! The little people seem to be crawling out of the wood work these days. Bringing cookies to our doors. And they are all so cute in the Scout and Brownie uniforms, that they are salesmanship itself.

The Keilmans (Pat and Vince) are taking a business, pleasure trip to Las Vegas. They will visit the Pacific Automotive Show and stay at the Star Dust Hotel. While there, they will take the time to visit relatives and an 80-year-old father. Just to think of the things a man of this age has seen. From covered wagons to jets and rockets to the moon, in one life span.

The Keilmans' son Jack is in Korea, about 140 miles south of Soule at a Nike base. He writes of his interesting experiences and a train trip that took four hours to go 76 miles. Trains there are still so unique that they stop at every little hut to talk to the people who live there. This is really tranquilized living, and you would have to learn patience and fortitude after the hustle bustle of our continent.

TEA ANYONE? The volunteer exhibit tea will be held at the Rancho San Miguel Swim Club at 2727 San Carlos Drive in Walnut Creek, March 26 from 1 to 4 p.m. The tea will be sponsored by the Community Service Volunteers Agency. Jean Blackmur is in charge of exhibits.

This is a very worthwhile cause for people with time on their hands. The group helps the aged, works in the hospitals, and does much charity work throughout the area. Men are urged to attend this affair and see the good that is being done.

Marion Devin, board member, will assist the volunteer bureau.

ALL IN THE FAMILY. Rosemary and Dick Erving are doing their share to span the gap between the Diablo Estates, Orchard Dell and Rheem areas, as they will soon be moving into a beautiful new home, in the new area off Moraga Road. They are moving from the Ivy Drive area. Rosemary's folks will be moving into the Erving's present home.

PARENT CLUB dessert bridge was a huge success with approximately 160 women playing in ten homes throughout the area. A party pie was served in quite a few homes and met with many raves and requests for the recipe. Huge potted azaleas from Kings Nursery were the door prizes.

Table prizes were telephone key chains and blue books donated by R. Hough, and telephone note pocket books from F. Carlson, both of the Pacific Telephone Co. Mrs. Lois Nelson donated Shasta shampoo and Mrs. J. Cother of the United California Bank of Walnut Creek donated U.C.B. pens for the affair.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE! For those who are interested in the future development of Moraga, there will be a public meeting of the Moraga Valley Community Club Monday night at 7:30 at Donald L. Rheem School all-purpose room. The school is at the top of Donald Drive. President Dick Kostyrka will enlighten us on the current developments of the great post office controversy. The meeting is free for all—come, join—and have a voice in local government. See you there.

CHARTER MEMBERSHIP—Applying for charter membership in the Campolindo High School honor society chapter of the California Scholarship Federation are freshmen at the new ninth grade only high school. Qualified for membership CSF application on the basis of their excellent academic performance for the first semester of the current school year are (left to right, front row) Bill Bowne, Barbara Cattolice, Sally Hartman and honor society advisor Bill Reavis; (back row) Steve Harris, Graig Blencowe, Dave Bartlett and Pete Mika. St. Mary's Feted

Civic and religious leaders of Orinda, Moraga and Lafayette gathered at a luncheon yesterday at the St. Mary's College campus.

St. Mary's was host at the affair, arranged by Welcome Wagon representatives.

The occasion was to honor the college in its centennial year and "to foster friendly relations and understanding between the college and its neighbors," according to Orinda Chamber of Commerce President Ed Amatrone, general chairman of the luncheon.

IT WAS suggested by Dr. Allen Pollock, St. Mary's academic vice president and host, that a community council be established to work with the college on all areas of community life.

Speaking along the lines of neighborliness and cooperation, the luncheon speakers included Rev. Albert Hidy, Jr., Rabbi David Robins, Verne Odegard, president of the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce and Amatrone.

"We are proud to have a college of such outstanding cultural achievement in our midst," said Amatrone. "The community wishes to add its voice to those up and down the state who have honored the college during this centennial year."

Contributors to gifts for the occasion included Orinda Chamber of Commerce, Orinda Rotary Club, Orinda-Moraga Welcome Wagon, Central Valley Bank of Orinda, Orinda Camera Shop, Black's Market.

FOR MORAGA: Rheem Center Merchants Association, King Nursery and Florist and Rheem Bowl.

For Lafayette: Lafayette Rotary Club, Hillside Motel, Francis's Florist, Lafayette Toyland and Contra Costa Stationers.

Joseph L. Sheaff, superintendent of Orinda Schools; Kenneth Courtright, Laura Mallory, postmaster; James Lewis, principal of Miramonte High School, and Robert Coles.

FROM LAFAYETTE: Verne Odegard, president of Lafayette Chamber of Commerce; R. T. Mossman, Lafayette Design

Project; C. B. Silvan, Lafayette Rotary; Supervisor Mel Nielsen, Rabbi David Robins of Temple Isaiah, Father Meyer of St. Perpetua Church and Eleanor Silverman, associate publisher of The Sun.

From Moraga: Maria Brown, president of Rheem Center Merchants Association; Charles Wright, Moraga Valley Community Club; Rev. William J. Frankhuizen, representing C. C. Council of Churches for Moraga; Elinor Dickenson, postmaster of Moraga; George King and Eric Accomazzo.

FROM WELCOME WAGON: Mesdames Patricia Mackay, executive supervisor of the Bay Area; Dorothy Skinner, county supervisor; Dorothy Jensen and Frances Cattolica, Lafayette hostesses, and Ann Pollack, Orinda-Morag hostess.

From St. Mary's: Dr. Allan Pollock, academic vice president; deans: Brother Walter and Brother Thomas; Brother Casian, Brother Albert, Father Hayes, Thomas Donahoe, Gene Diullo, president, Associated Students, and Bart Bleuel, student centennial chairman, and Duane Press, secretary to Brother Michael, president.

Four Corners of Globe to Gather At Campolindo

A panel of American Field Service students will be heard at Campolindo High School Monday at 8 p.m. in the school's all-purpose room.

The public is invited, according to Elliot Hartman, Campolindo Parents Club vice president and program chairman.

AFS STUDENTS from Miramonte High School will be Isa Ferrari, Italy; Mustapha Plang from the Philippines.

Jonathan Lamb, Great Britain, and Kioto Suomivuori, Finland, will come from Acalanes.

Mrs. Grace Powell, faculty advisor for the AFS Miramonte chapter, will be moderator.

A cake sale will also be held at Monday's meeting. It will be sponsored by the year book staff to raise money for the school's first year book.

Mrs. M. W. Osmundson, membership chairman, announced at the March 14 meeting that better than 72 per cent membership was attained for the Campolindo Parents Club.

President Charles Ivy announced the appointment of Mrs. Walter Ammon as chairman of the nominating committee.

St. Mark's to Hold Mission

Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, pastor of the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel, will lead the Faith and Life Mission Program of St. Mark's Methodist Church in Orinda March 30 through April 3.

This concentrated program of prayer, preaching and visitation will be conducted by 225 Methodist churches in Northern California and Nevada, with a guest preacher leading each church throughout the program.

According to John Campbell, director of St. Mark's Mission Program, the Orinda church will be inspired in this important program by the "Aldersgate experience" of the founder of the Methodist Church, John Wesley.

It is hoped that St. Mark's members and friends will seek to rediscover Aldersgate by participating actively with Dr. Gray in the Faith and Life Mission," said Rev. John Dodson, pastor.

Campolindo Forms Foreign Relations Club

Campolindo High School students recently formed a foreign relations club. It will be devoted to exploring the various facets of foreign and international aid.

The club hopes to adopt a foreign orphan and finance its care and education. Club members also expect to explore the American Field Service program to develop plans for Campolindo's participation in AFS.

"Student members of the club look forward to expanding their understanding of the peoples of the world and international problems on an activity basis to bring additional meaning to their regular social studies academic program," according to Alex Winchester, Campolindo principal.

THE PURCHASE, according to Club President Richard Hauer, involves negotiated refinancing reducing club indebtedness and arranging for postponed down payment at reduced interest rates.

The move came only weeks before the projected opening of over 100 lots in Unit Two of Round Hill Estates. Homes in the neighborhood sell for between $50,000 and $130,000.

According to Round Hill Estates' Ray Mathews, the developers are retaining membership privileges for potential owners of the homes.

"The price of the home does not include membership, but gives the owner the opportunity to apply," Mathews said.

"In fact, the deal between the club members and Round Hill has been completed," Mathews indicated.

"In law, however, there remain some papers to be signed," he added.

Club President Hauer expressed his satisfaction at the arrangements.

Round Hill CC Bounces Back, Tells New Plans

Denying reports that Round Hill Country Club was in "any thing like" the financial difficulties reportedly faced by Walnut Hills, spokesmen recently revealed big plans for the club under member-ownership.

Hugh Charles, recently appointed club manager, said the Round Hill situation was "in no way comparable" to that at Walnut Hills.

The plans Charles announced, and the fact that memberships have steadily increased in cost to a present high of $1750, indicates he may be right.

The club already offers golf and swimming six days a week, in addition to dinners three nights a week, luncheons and occasional dances.

THE NEW program, which will be offered to new members in a membership drive soon, calls for a regular Saturday night dance, open lounge until 9 p.m. every night, and early evening golfing.

In addition, the club will promote social activities for an expected 500 new social members.

"These would include bridge groups, special interest clubs, youth activities and so on," Charles said.

The present 300 members plan to offer 100 additional regular memberships in the near future, Charles indicated.

THE CLUB, with $500,000 clubhouse, Olympic-size pool, steam-room and 18-hole championship 72-par course, is in the final stages of purchase by the members.

Located in the midst of Round Hill Estates on Stone Valley Road, Alamo, the club was built by Round Hill interests.

Last month a six-to-one majority of the members voted to refinance the club by exercising an option to purchase immediately from Round Hill.

According to one member, monthly lease and interest payments had been too much for the relatively small club to bear.

THE PURCHASE, according to Club President Richard Hauer, involves negotiated refinancing reducing club indebtedness and arranging for postponed down payment at reduced interest rates.

The move came only weeks before the projected opening of over 100 lots in Unit Two of Round Hill Estates. Homes in the neighborhood sell for between $50,000 and $130,000.

According to Round Hill Estates' Ray Mathews, the developers are retaining membership privileges for potential owners of the homes.

"The price of the home does not include membership, but gives the owner the opportunity to apply," Mathews said.

"In fact, the deal between the club members and Round Hill has been completed," Mathews indicated.

"In law, however, there remain some papers to be signed," he added.

Club President Hauer expressed his satisfaction at the arrangements.

"The continued private character of the club," he said, "is considered an asset to surrounding communities."

Cancer Fund Drive Heads Are Named

Chairmen for the crux of the American Cancer Society's April fund-raising and educational campaign were named recently by Mrs. J. J. van Loben Sels, Jr. of Lafayette, county residential chairman.

Orinda home chairman will be Mrs. David R. Iventosch, 44 Barbara Road. Mrs. Iventosch is a mother of four children. She has been a Girl Scout leader for the past three years as well as helper on other voluntary health agency efforts in Orinda.

LAFAYETTE home chairman will be Mrs. Charles Giguere, 3805 Happy Valley Road. Mrs. Giguere has been active in many civic affairs in her community.

Orinda also will have a business and industry chairman.

This campaign will be conducted through the month of April, national cancer control month by Act of Congress. The residential drive in late April will be the culmination of the entire effort.

Business chairman appointed today by E. E. Matheson, county business chairman, is Eugene Connolly, 3520 Brook Street, Lafayette, and a former Orinda resident.

Volunteer Connolly is associated with California Chemical Company, Richmond.

Easter Seals help crippled children and adults, regardless of cause of crippling, race, or religion.

FLYING UP to the top of the California Medical Association at its annual convention this weekend is the new state president, Dr. Samuel Sherman of San Francisco.

If that name rings any bells in Pleasant Hill, it should. The doctor, a World War II naval hero, used to do his pre-war flying out in the hinterland east of the tunnel at a place named Sherman Field in his honor. Now known as Sherman Acres.

CALL MORTENSEN . . . Tom Duffy, real estate broker, drives a Rolls Royce carpeted with the hide of some rare beast whose pelt is so thick you can easily lose a shoe in it. Duffy, however, is no spend-thrift. Regularly he drives the regal car by the milk depot to buy a flat of eggs for his wife. The other day, catastrophe struck . . . That's right, fur omelette.

LEGAL TWIST . . . Out of her judge's robe and into her dancing shoes was Judge Betsy Rahn at the Walnut Creek Youth Athletic Association dinner dance held at the W.C. Elks Club recently.

Charming Betsy, whose son is a Las Lomas High School athlete, proved to be all within earshot to be as well-versed on the subject of baseball as she is on the law.

STALE JOKE . . . At last week's performance of Gigi, staged by The Dramateurs, one of the biggest laughs of the play quite unintentional—came when M a d a m e Alvarez (Charlotte Chapple) came on stage carrying groceries for dinner.

As she sat the bag down on the kitchen table, the typically French, long loaf of bread snatched in two and fell on the floor.

How odd was the bread? Well, the successful play has been running since February 8—and there is a limit on how long dough can hold out.

NO COMMENT DEPT. . . . "The Seven Year Itch" produced by the Valley Playhouse Group, will be sponsored next Friday night by the Women's Fellowship of the San Ramon Valley Congregational Church.

"ASK NOT WHAT YOUR COUNTRY . . ." Gordon Estes, assistant county clerk, was presented with a problem the other day. Problem was a visitor to the bureau, Norman M. Nelson, of 496 Marshall Drive, Walnut Creek.

Nelson, who is with the Lawrence Radiation Lab at Livermore, just wanted to know what he could do for the county . . . serve on a commission, or help compile figures . . . anything, since he's interested in county government.

Estes is still shaking his head in bewilderment as he goes trying to find some volunteer effort for Nelson to perform.

BEACHED . . . The project to get a new patrol boat for the delta area has been dragging its anchor for some time now. The county estimated it would cost $35,000 for a new boat. Lowest bid submitted two weeks ago was $44,000.

Some $2000 has already been sunk in architect's fees by the county. To redesign the boat will cost another $500 to $1000.

Public Works Director Vic Sauer wants to reject all bids. Sup. Mel Nielsen wants to buy an already-designed boat from some builder.

According to the scuttlebutt, the supervisors' finance committee is now trying to untangle the mess and sail on.

A CENSORED ROMANCE was uncovered recently at the U. S. Air Force Academy involving two Alamo young people. It all happened when the girl friend of Gary Rodriguez, son of the Earnest Rodriguezes of La Serra Drive, who is a fourth classman at the academy, wanted to send him a valentine.

She wrote out some torrid words of endearment and gave them to a Western Union operator with the injunction to deliver it sealed.

But the naive young lady didn't know the Air Force Academy procedures. First the message fell into the hands of Air Force officers. Then it was passed to a First Year cadet (a senior) and then down the line until it was read aloud into the wild blue yonder at formation in mess hall while hundreds of cadets cheered ecstatically.

Shooting Victim Now Recovering

One boy in the hospital with a bullet wound in the chest and another one held for investigation of shooting him.

That was the highlight yesterday of the week's activities by Contra Costa County sheriff's deputies.

Some of the criminal activities included burglaries, car chases in Lafayette in which juveniles escaped from pursuing deputies, the theft of 19 pigeons from a Pleasant Hill lad, and even arson at a school.

THE SHOOTING victim is James L. Timmons, 20, of 783 Diablo Road, Danville. Attendants at Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek say he is recovering from his wound, though for a while it was 50-50 as to whether he would make it.

His suspected rifleman, Thomas H. Sutton, 21, of Southgate Road, Diablo, is out on bail, pending his court appearance on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Sutton insisted to police that the shooting early last Saturday was entirely accidental—all he wanted the group of young persons to do was to leave the family home in Diablo.

THE SHOOTING fracas, according to deputies, occurred after some 30 young persons, male and female, had descended on the premises.

When the hour got late, Sutton said that he requested the others to leave.

Most of them had, leaving only Timmons and some of his friends.

When the others failed to depart, Sutton said he got a .22 caliber pump rifle, intending to use the weapon as a warning device.

INSTEAD the rifle discharged, police said, with the slug striking Timmons in the chest.

Another person at the party swung his crutch and knocked Sutton down.

The victim hardest hit by prowlers was Robert Curtis, 925 Beech Drive, Walnut Creek.

He and his daughter, Vickie, 12, returned home the afternoon of March 14 and saw four youths quickly leave, amid a screen of exhaust clouds, down their driveway.

Curtis went inside and found the house had been ransacked. Drawers and closets had been opened. The contents were strewn about the floor.

WHEN HIS loss had been tallied up, Curtis discovered that items valued about $3000 had been stolen. Some of the items included 50 phonograph records, jewelry, clothing, golf clubs and money.

Arson was suspected at the Stanley School in Lafayette as the aftermath of a basketball tournament.

The Lindsey Nut Company. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Caroline Sauer of West Palm Beach, Florida; four brothers, John Lindsey, Concord; William Lindsey, Pleasant Hill; Steward Lindsey, Bella Vista; Clifford Lindsey, Florida, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Ruth Bean, also of Florida.

ROSSELL C. BUTTON Last rites were held Saturday for Roswell C. Button, of 140 Norlin Drive, Walnut Creek, who died last week in a Walnut Creek hospital.

A native of Australia, aged 47, Mr. Button was a member of Live Oak Lodge Number 61, F. and A.M.

He is survived by his wife, Consuela; his sons, Roswell Jr., Paul, Patrick and Michael, and his daughters, Diana and Cora. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roswell S. Button of Concord.

Services were held in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Walnut Creek, with Rev. Samuel E. Smith officiating.

JOHN F. KAVANAGH JR. Funeral services were held Sunday for John Francis Kavanagh Jr., 45, of Alamo who passed away last week.

He was the husband of Reba Kavanagh, and the father of Gwen and Gerry Kavanagh. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Marie Kavanagh of Oakland, and a brother, William F. Kavanagh of Castro Valley.

A native of Oakland, Mr. Kavanagh was a member of the Teamsters Union Local 70 and St. Isidore's Catholic Church.

Services were held at the San Ramon Valley Chapel, Danville, and interment was at Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

CARL L. LINDSEY Funeral services were held Tuesday in Concord for Carl L. Lindsey, 49, of Walnut Creek, who died last week in a local hospital.

A native of Florida, Mr. Lindsey lived in Walnut Creek for 17 years. He was associated with

One locker, including its contents, was seriously burned and three other nearby lockers were singed by the flames. Police suspect boys who may have attended the tournament.

AN EXCITING police chase ended in Lafayette early last Sunday with two juveniles getting away from officers.

The cars, one following the other, were seen turning onto Mt. Diablo Boulevard from Oak Street. Deputies picked up the chase when they noted the other vehicles were going at a high rate of speed.

The cars turned onto Moraga Boulevard, and then later, one of them headed into Hawthorne Lane.

THE AUTO roared across the front yard at 903 Hawthorne, struck a tree snapping the trunk, plowed through a hedge, ran over bushes and then stopped.

The driver, a juvenile, escaped by fleeing into dense foliage. Meanwhile, the occupants of the other car had fled in their vehicle.

The most unsuspecting victim of burglars was Mrs. Claudette Hunter, 21, of 2904 Hillsdale Drive, Pleasant Hill.

SHE RETURNED to her home from shopping and started to shower. She was in the bathroom no more than 10 minutes, she told police, when she returned to the living room and found her purse and $10 gone.

Another unusual theft was reported by James Busalack of 1701 Mary Drive, Pleasant Hill. The other morning he went out into his backyard and found 19 pigeons taken from the coop.

As for John Meadows, an attorney with the U.S. Justice Department, he parked his car in Orinda and went to work in San Francisco. When he returned that evening he found that thieves had taken a tire and wheel off the auto. Meadows resides at 12 Shawnee Lane, Orinda.

SHERIFF'S deputies also reported that $800 worth of tools were taken from a utility shed at the Alamo-Lafayette Cemetery in Lafayette and thieves made an unsuccessful attempt to crack a safe at the California Shingle and Shake Company, 249 Hookston Road, Pleasant Hill.

One of the week's most harrowing experiences was reported by Joseph F. Brynne, 18, of 3287 Sweet Drive, Lafayette.

He was traveling south on Moraga Road when another motorist began "bumping" the rear of his car.

Byrnie allowed this to happen two or three times and then stopped his car.

HE GOT out, walked back, and was met by a sweeping knife held by the other motorist.

Byrnie did the next best thing. He swung, knocking his assailant to the ground.

He was definitely getting the best of the other person, deputies said, when other men began getting out of the car.

Radar Inventor To Appear at DVC Symposium

A famous first will be scored by Diablo Valley College's science — humanities symposium scheduled next week with a visit by Sir Robert Watson-Watt, the inventor of radar.

According to Karl Drexel, director of the college, the week-long series of talks, meetings and informal get-togethers will be the first time that a northern California junior college has had a scientist of this stature as a resident on campus to work formally and informally with students and teachers.

The college and the community can take pride in the visit of so notable a personage as Watson-Watt, Drexel states.

THE ANNOUNCED purpose of the symposium according to spokesmen for the Diablo Valley College, its faculty and student associations and the National Defense Education Act Administration, co-sponsors of the event, "seek a dynamic definition of science, explore its relation to the humanities, and evaluate these discussions and their implications for education."

For his scientific achievements, Watson-Watt was knighted by King George VI and has received the Presidential Medal for Merit from the United States.

The symposium will include two major evening addresses by Sir Robert in the Diablo Valley College gymnasium Monday and Wednesday.

The public, as well as the student body and faculty, are encouraged to attend these events in which Sir Robert will raise some of the main issues involved in the science-humanities relationship and its implications for modern education.

Interested students may contact the Adult Education Office at Acalanes High School between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. and 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. except Friday nights.

Hill Crash Woman Remains in Coma

A Lafayette woman still laid in a coma yesterday, unaware that her child was killed in a car accident on March 9 in which she was critically injured.

In another incident, investigation continues in the death of a Walnut Creek lad struck by a car on March 8.

During the week, in the Central Contra Costa County area, six persons were injured in traffic accidents, the Highway Patrol reported.

THE LAFAYETTE woman still in a coma is Shirley M. Holland, 20, of 739 Diablo Court.

Her son, James Jr., was killed instantly when he was hurled from a car that plunged end over end down a 300-foot hill in Marin County.

From accounts pieced together by police, Mrs. Holland, the wife of a soldier on duty in Germany, met another man, David L. Lazarus, 20, of San Francisco, on a bus enroute to Hollister.

In that town Lazarus said he obtained a car from a friend and he along with Mrs. Holland and her child started back for the Bay Area.

HE SAID that they decided to go for a swim in Marin County and were traveling along a narrow road when, according to him, Mrs. Holland suddenly grabbed the wheel. Lazarus said he slammed on the car brakes and the vehicle slid over the edge of the cliff.

Lazarus escaped major injuries in the harrowing ride. The Walnut Creek youth who died from injuries suffered when he was hit by a car on Freeman Drive, about 100 feet east of Ridgefield Road was Robert E. Thomas Jr., 15, of 3517 Freeman Drive.

The boy died on March 14, six days after the accident.

DRIVER OF the car was Ronald Kane, 18, 261 Montecello Drive, Walnut Creek. He told highway patrol officers that he didn't see the boy in time to stop. A passenger was with him at the time.

Capt. E. M. Jelich, head of the highway patrol's Contra Costa division, said his agency has completed its investigation and all information has been turned over to the district attorney's office.

Adult Courses Now Available Registration for the spring quarter classes for adults will continue next week at the Acalanes Adult Education Center.

The Acalanes adult education program offers classes in areas of business education, math (basic through trigonometry), foreign languages, public speaking, reading, creative writing, English and citizenship preparation.

Courses are also offered in crafts (ceramics, rug making, jewelry, lapidary, metal and wood), photography (still and motion picture), all levels of painting, drawing, sketching, sculpture, various sewing classes and interior decoration.

Classes are given in landscape design, piano (popular), physical fitness, swimming (to begin in April), and driver education and training.

Interested students may contact the Adult Education Office at Acalanes High School between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. and 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. except Friday nights.

No charges have been filed. Last Sunday three persons, including two children, suffered minor injuries in a two-car crash at Taylor Boulevard and Grayson Road, Pleasant Hill.

The car drivers were Margaret M. Edmunds, 76, of 813 El Rio Road, Danville and William C. Moore, 31, of Pittsburg. Mrs. Edmunds and two of Moore's children, Elizabeth, 2, and Thomas, 5 months, were hurt.

A LAFAYETTE woman, Marian J. Jacobsen, 39, of 2 Silverleaf Court, escaped serious injury when her car went out of control east of the El Curtola overpass near Walnut Creek and rolled over two times.

The highway patrol said the accident happened as Mrs. Jacobsen tried to change lanes.

The woman's 9-year-old daughter was with her at the time. Both went to a private doctor.

Also last Saturday Charles C. Pickens, 22, 31 David Court, Walnut Creek, maintained another car was following him too closely and his auto ran off the road. The accident occurred on Stone Valley Road west of Round Hill Drive, east of Alamo.

Pickens went to his own doctor.

Brownies' Greek 'Sing'

Learning to sing Greek songs that Greek Brownies sing are members of Brownie Scout Troop 235 in Orinda.

The Diablo Valley Area Girl Scout Council troop is one of four San Francisco Bay Area troops that will appear on "Portrait" on KRON, Channel 4, at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday.

At the rear are Mrs. Robert Konter, assistant leader, and Mrs. H. O. Hale, troop leader. The troop is participating in an International Friendship exchange project with a troop of Brownie Scouts in Athens, Greece. Through scrapbooks, which are glorified pen pal letters, the girls in both countries are learning about each other, how they live, what their communities are like, the special holidays they celebrate, their schools, and the games they enjoy.

The scrapbook exchange between Greek Brownie Scouts and Diablo Valley Area Brownie Scouts began after a visit here by Miss Eva Pentheroudaki, Brownie Scout Commissioner for the Hellenic Girl Guide Association.

During her five weeks stay as a visitor-observer in Diablo Valley she attended Girl Scout day camp at Twin Canyon, and taught the girls games, songs, puppetry and stories enjoyed by the Brownie (or Poulia) Scouts in Athens.

When she returned to Greece she sent the council a scrapbook made by her Greek Brownie troop as a 'thank you' to her new friends.

This scrapbook has been seen by many troops, including the members of Troop No. 235.

These girls so enjoyed the discovery that the modern Greek Brownie Scouts are little girls just like themselves and not giving burnt offerings to Ancient Greek Gods (as they learned in Greek Mythology) that they decided they wanted to become pen friends. They are also discovering that Brownie Scouts, where ever they live, make the same promise to love God and country; give service to others and enjoy the same activities—only the words sound differently.

Miss Marie Samson, a member of the Royal Greek Consul General's staff in San Francisco has been helping the leaders with the Greek pronunciation of the words.

Members of the troop are all second and third graders at Inland Valley School.

CONCERT TONIGHT — Miramonte Girls' Chorus members put the final touches to their part of the program in the Orinda high school's annual spring concert to be held in the Matador gym at 8 p.m. (Left to right) at the piano, Leslie Roberts; instructor, Lawrence Anderson; singers, Sue MacQuiddy, Carol Carpenter, Marilyn Newfield and Chris Campbell. Miramonte Concert Is Tonight

Miramonte High School department of music will present the annual spring concert to-night at eight in the Miramonte gymnasium, under the direction of Lawrence Anderson.

The program will feature a wide variety of music with selections by such famous composers as Wagner, Berlioz, Dvorak, Rimsky-Korsakov, Mussorgsky, and many more.

Selections from popular musical shows such as "West Side Story" will also be presented. The concert band, orchestra, a cappella choir and girls' chorus will all be participating in the concert, as well as student soloists. A theatre organ will be heard as part of the concert.

The public is invited. Tickets will be available at the door.

Local Homes Cited for Design

Orinda, Lafayette Homes Win Architectural Honor

Two local homes were given awards in an architectural contest recently. It was jointly sponsored by the East Bay and Northern California chapters of the American Institute of Architects. The awards are "in recognition of excellence in design."

Of the 36 buildings selected for honors, two were in Contra Costa County. One is an Orinda home, and one is in Lafayette.

A MERIT AWARD went to architect Charles W. Moore's bachelor house at 33 Monte Vista Road. It was designed by Moore and his associates Donlyn Lyndon, Richard Whitaker and William Turnbull, all of Berkeley.

Orinda architect Ian Mackinlay received a citation award for the Bernard residence at 53 Silverwood Drive, Lafayette.

Mackinlay was the recipient of a first honor award in the 1961 "Homes for Better Living" competition for another residence in Lafayette.

Moore's bachelor house, designed for a minimum area (the county sets 700 sq. ft.) and minimum cost, which would not violate the grandeur of the site, mingling pool and would provide more distant future. Inver over extensive additions in the more distant future.

The site is one acre. It is studied with oaks and bay trees which surround a grassy knoll, reached by a sweeping driveway around the head of a glen filled with ferns and more oaks.

THE HOUSE is of wood frame with plywood roof and walls, cedar shingle. The floors are brick on concrete slabs. To insure against meanness and too small a scale (and because they were a bargain) a group of 11 foot high tuscan columns of solid fir complete with entasis, were bought from a San Francisco demolition before the design started.

The design scheme used eight of these columns, four around a sky lit-white white pyramidal dome which serves as a focus for living space, and four describing a smaller square above a shower head and sunken tub on the side of the house which will face the pool to be constructed in the near future.

SLIDING DOORS of plywood and glass on barn-door hardware open half of each side of the house.

Moore is the chairman of the department of architecture, University of California, Berkeley.

The jury's comments on his Orinda abode were as follows: "A very spirited solution, and, to some on the jury, the most interesting and individual house to come up for judgment."

"A clean break from the regional tradition in architecture. The interesting use of columns and interior volumes of Baldachino-type foam gives the building a poetic and imaginative quality."

Famed Ballet Will Perform At Miramonte

The San Francisco Ballet will present a benefit program April 5 at Miramonte High School.

The program will include a lecture-demonstration and two ballets. These will be the same performances as given on tours and at the San Francisco opera house and Curran theater.

Tickets at $1 for students and $2 for adults may be purchased at Ogden's in the village or Cole's shoe store at the crossroads.

Contact Miramonte Parents' Club President Winnie Gilmore, 254-3149 for further information. Mrs. Gilmore was a soloist with the ballet during her high school and college days.

ORINDA ARCHITECT Ian Mackinlay's citation award was for a home which was originally designed for speculation. This Lafayette house is approximately 2500 square feet and occupies a knoll overlooking a wooded glade.

It is of wood frame construction with a concrete foundation. Exterior walls are clear heart redwood with cedar shingle roof. Interior walls are gypsum board covered with walnut, luan paneling and grass cloth. Floors are hardwood Utah lead stone and vinyl tessera. Ceilings are redwood.

The house was designed to fit the site and every attempt was made to take advantage of the views toward the south and southwest and of the trees.

Separate wings were designed for each of the four activity centers; and to be closely associated with the exterior spaces. Kitchen and family rooms were oriented toward the future pool site.

Living room and master bedroom were oriented toward adult entertaining in the patio. Children's wing was oriented toward the children's garden area; and the formal entry toward the courtyard which is shared by the dining room and the family room.

ALL REGISTERED architects in northern California were eligible to enter the contest—first in this area since 1937. Awards were presented recently at a banquet at the M. H. DeYoung Memorial Museum.

In announcing its selections, the jury said that it had been "impressed with the unusually high quality of the submissions, finding the level of competence at a very high point throughout."

The buildings were chosen from among 230 entries by a jury composed of architects Paul Hayden Kirk, Seattle, who was chairman; Alden B. Dow of Midland, Michigan; John Johansen, New Canaan, Connecticut; Joseph Passonneau, St. Louis, Missouri; and John Entenza, director of the Graham Foundation, Chicago.

Kirk and Dow are Fellows of the Institute; Johansen and Passonneau are members.

Moraga Meadow Assoc. to Meet

Moraga Meadows Association met to elect officers Monday at 8 p.m. at Glorietta School.

"Smaller improvement groups such as this can help form public opinion on vital issues and should remain in existence for that purpose," said Wally Thaw, treasurer.

Dues are $1 per family per year. Some of the treasury will go toward a spring dinner dance, said Thaw.

He added: "New development is largely in the business district, Rheem and Moraga under the guidance of commercial interests, the Utah Construction Company, the Orinda Association, the County Planning Commission, and the Board of Supervisors. Suggestions on these matters from our vicinity can best be served through the residing director of the Orinda Association, Jim Halloran."

Trower to Get Illinois Degree

William P. Trower, 119 Estates Drive, Orinda, will soon receive his masters of science degree from the University of Illinois.

Trower will be among 1338 mid-year U. I. graduates. No commencement is planned. Diplomas will be mailed about April 1.

CITATION AWARD—ARCHITECT IAN MACKINLAY'S LAFAYETTE DESIGN

BACHELOR HOME—ARCHITECT CHARLES W. MOORE GETS MERIT AWARD

How Would Tax Bill Affect Orinda Schools?

How would the county-wide tax proposal which is now before the State Legislature affect the Orinda Union School District?

Henry Moeller, assistant superintendent for business services, explained in detail the answer to this question (in dollars and cents) Monday night.

HE ADDRESSED an adjourned meeting of the board of trustees. Chairman J. Gordon Ainsworth presided.

Moeller attended a meeting recently of the education committee of the Contra Costa Taxpayers Association. Charles Hawthorn, superintendent of the Pittsburg Unified School District, gave a talk opposing the proposal which would equalize taxes.

The proposed bills are currently being argued in the state legislative committees.

Using the present budget for the district in terms of cost per individual student, Moeller went to the blackboard and compared the present system to the proposed system.

HE SAID that by using the same assessed evaluation and average daily attendance in Orinda, and by using "constants," (i.e. maintaining the same present taxes) total income per student would be $28.16 more income under the proposed bill. The difference would come from the state.

Explaining the bill from the other angle, Moeller used the same "constants." Under the proposed plan, the local school tax would be 26.6 cents lower per $100 assessed valuation. This would apply if the district were to need no more income than received under the present method of school financing, added Moeller.

THE BOARD postponed action concerning its position on the county-wide school tax proposal. It also took under study a new warehouse for the district.

Another matter taken under consideration was a proposal that the district pay the premiums on medical and health insurance for certificated and classified personnel during the coming year.

Ann Rodeo Will Tour with Choir

Ann Rodeo of Orinda will be among the members of the University of Pacific A Cappella Choir to start an annual spring tour Thursday.

The 38-member group will give performances in a dozen California cities.

Winter Court of Honor Is Held by Troop 207

Troop 207 of Orinda held its annual winter Court of Honor recently at the Sleepy Hollow auditorium. Twelve ranks and 15 merit badges were awarded. The names of the Scouts and the ranks they received are as follows:

Tenderfoot: Scott Voelker, Deke Ballard.

Second class: Jim Block, Bud Worth, David Usinger, Rick Lewis, Fritz Van Mastrigt and Tom Milligan.

vancement chairman, awarded merit badges to the following Scouts: Don Fastabend, Stuart Borbridge, Doug Schuyler and Kit Renwick.

Scores of the inter-patrol contest were announced as follows: Raccoon, 365; Cheyenne, 301; Jaguar, 294; Flying Eagle, 290; Blackfoot, 277; Raven, 239.

Skits were put on by the Jaguar and Flying Eagle patrols and a demonstration put on by the Raccoon patrol on mouth-to-mouth respiration.

Highlight of the evening was the showing of a film narrated by Bud Lee, Orlando Scout executive. Philmont Scout Ranch, New Mexico was the topic.

3 Workers Hurt In Gas Blast

Orville Anderson, 33 of 62 Fordham Court, Pleasant Hill, was alive yesterday, thanks to the quick-witted actions of a worker friend.

The two were welding a pipe line on Avon Road east of Martinez when the line exploded. A tongue of flame reached out and set Anderson's clothes on fire.

A co-worker, Emerson V. Archer of Livermore, caught up with Anderson and threw him to the ground. The fire which had ignited Anderson's clothing, was extinguished.

Anderson was in serious condition at Concord Community Hospital but Archer was released. A third man, James Marchello, 40 of 93 Hillcrest Drive, Orinda, also suffered serious burns from the explosion.

A photograph by F. H. Stross of Orinda is included in a prize-winning display in the Berkeley public library this month.

Title of Stross' photo is "Giant Portals of Stefanskirche." It is part of an exhibit from the Shell Development Recreational Association's photographic contest.

Young Lewis Is Recruit in Company B

James Lewis, son of the principal of Miramonte High School, is among those to recently enlist in the local National Guard's Company B.

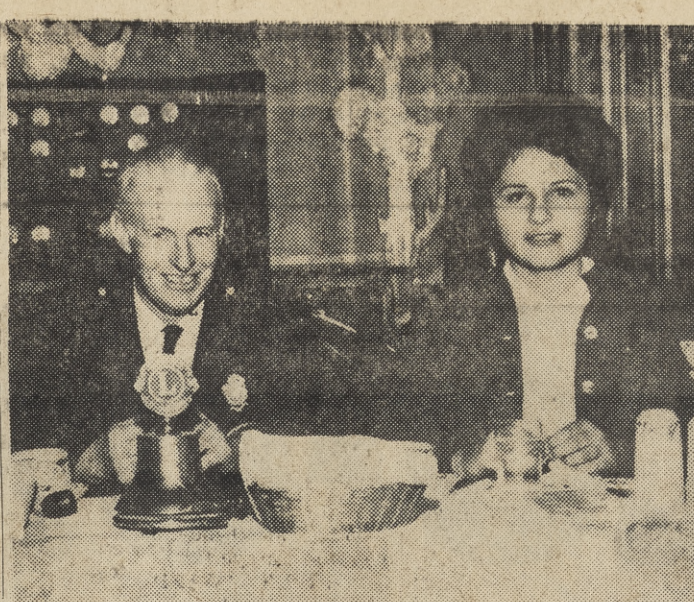

Miramonte was called "the most cooperative high school" in the area by Charles Carlson, first sergeant and administrative and supply technician for Company B.

Young men from the Orinda-Moraga area make up about two-thirds of the personnel of Company B, according to Carlson.

"Miramonte has been helpful in allowing the services to come in and orient seniors on their impending military obligations," said Carlson.

Company B, of Second Battalion, 184th Infantry, currently has an enlisted personnel of 103 men, and three officers.

One Down, But Another To Go

A big sigh of relief probably went up from central county commuters last week when news of the "Waldie Bill" withdrawal was announced.

Assemblyman Jerome Waldie (10th District) suggested a "compromise" after he learned that passage of his bill would prevent issuance of rapid transit bonds.

Waldie has always stated that his bill was not intended to "kill" rapid transit, but, rather, "force" it to provide service to the eastern section of the county.

He learned last week from the legislature and bond counsel that his bill would very definitely kill the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

IN PROMISING withdrawal of the bill he fathered, Waldie still threatened to use the bill as a "club" if his conditions are not met by directors of the district.

In order to make sure Waldie and his bill are no longer any trouble, directors must agree to a firm policy guaranteeing priority on future extensions of service.

BARTD President Adrien Falk told The Sun that he would recommend passage of a resolution by the board embodying Waldie's request.

With the overwhelming majority of people voting for the passage of BARTD bonds, the Bay Area is this week glad to see the Waldie opposition removed.

Waldie has proved he also believes in the absolute need of rapid transit for the Bay Area—and that one section of one county is not more important than the welfare of three counties.

When he first proposed the bill that would lessen the tax burden for East Contra Costa residents, Waldie indicated that it was "direct service or no tax money" edict.

WALDIE'S compromise, however, is just the removal of one phase of opposition.

Rapid Transit can't "go" until the other obstacle is removed.

Although democracy is being served in the court action which is halting progress of BARTD initial work, it is necessary to expedite the case.

Only the taxpayers of the three-county Bay counties who voted for the bonds will suffer from a long, involved court case.

It has cost taxpayers $24,000,000 up to last week, a report said.

If the suit against the district is prolonged past July 1 it could mean that cost of the transit system might jump $100,000,000.

Although loss of the Grove-Shafter freeway median strip for trains on July 1 is possible, it is hoped that it is not probable.

It is hoped that all issues under discussion in the court suit are resolved quickly.

IT IS ALSO hoped that the persons responsible for the suit will act in good faith and not use legal maneuverings to further burden the taxpayers of the Bay Area.

Rapid Transit is needed.

New tunnels and roads will be inadequate as soon as they are built.

The residents of Contra Costa, Alameda and San Francisco counties voted for rapid transit.

It's apparent that democracy should be heeded here as well as in the court room.

Are We Going To Pay More?

How many gallons of gas did you buy last year? Do you know that on each gallon of gas there is now 10 cents tax (combination of state and federal taxes).

Do you want to add another one cent tax on every gallon of gas you buy?

You will if a bill now being considered in the State Legislature (Senate Bill 344) becomes law!

CONTRA COSTA County Board of Supervisors is on record favoring the tax increase. Only James Kenney opposed the endorsement.

A similar endorsement came from the Alameda-Contra Costa Mayor's Conference. Of the 25 mayors, one voted against the proposal with two absents.

Under SB 344, gasoline and LP gas would be increased from six to 6.7 cents; registration fees would be boosted by $1 per year, and truck weight fees by 19 per cent. This would produce the equivalent of one cent per gallon of gasoline, or some $60 to $65 million per year in revenue.

Supervisor Tom Coll spoke for the board when he remarked recently that "the county is already in arrears of $12.6 million worth of roadwork and the one cent gasoline tax hike would help tremendously."

The one-cent tax hike would go for improvement of city streets and county roads.

The money is a users tax and would go for local projects, Mayor Robert Nelson of Walnut Creek points out.

There's no doubt our elected officials are in favor of the tax increased tax.

THERE'S ALSO NO doubt we could use the extra money to improve our roads.

But isn't it time we held the line on taxes somewhere?

It's true that the people who drive the cars must pay for the roads they drive on, but there is a limit. Although our supervisors and city councils want a tax hike, is that what the residents here want?

It has been pointed out that the tax increase would not cost the average motorist too much.

THE MATTER HERE, however, is that another tax increase has been endorsed.

And although there is obviously a need and the money would be used for very worthwhile projects, we must begin to hold the overall tax line somewhere.

This seems like a good place and a good time to begin.

GIRLS' CLUB

Dear Editor:

I am writing to express my views on the present controversy regarding the girls clubs at our local high schools.

I am wholeheartedly for the existence of open clubs and organizations which draw students together because of common interests — ie, language clubs, hobby groups, sports interest etc.

However, I feel equally as strongly that these so-called service organizations are in reality little more than sign of social prestige.

I believe that any group which uses the method of inviting certain selected girls to join their ranks represents the anti-thesis of the democratic ideals which we purport to teach our children.

Since the question of the right of these groups to exist under their present set-up (ie. method of selection new members) has been raised, I have made a point of talking to both girls and mothers who represent various factions of the school (all grades and both members and non-members).

It becomes increasingly obvious to me that because of the closed membership policy the existence of these groups negatively affects the morale of the majority of the girls and engenders within them a false and disgusting set of superficial values.

If there is any doubt in the minds of the board members as to their clear responsibility in forcing a change in the membership selection of these groups, and one of open membership, I would like to suggest that a poll be taken of those who are directly affected — the girls themselves.

I am convinced that only a small minority of the girls believe in the present set-up. Many of them are on the horns of a dilemma—to reject what they know is undemocratic and unfair and at the same time give up the social prestige connected with these groups—or to go along and bury their innate senses of fair play and democratic processes.

I submit that it is unfair and unwise to subject our high school girls to this choice.

Let's hear from them by way of a vote.

FREEWAY THOUGHTS

Dear Editor:

A few weeks ago you asked for comment on the construction of the highway between the tunnel and the crossroads.

I think that traffic could be speeded up if the contractor would put a third lane in operation from the old Kaiser quarry road to the Orinda cross roads.

Once the drain pipe was laid and the connection made near the Orinda turnoff a third lane could have been made here. Despite statements to the contrary by state engineers I do believe the contractor needed all the space he has in front of the wall they are building for this operation.

This last narrow twisted section of the present highway is a definite bottleneck during commute hours. This is probably due to lack of approach road to allow cars to change lanes for the Orinda turnoff.

Previous discussion in your paper that a third lane would do no good toward speeding of traffic to the tunnel and presenting a psychological slowdown is not true during commute hours.

The contractor seems to be making good headway on construction of this project. They have not had many rainy days although when it did rain it came in unusually large amounts. I feel they have had less lost time than should be expected on a project of this type at this time of the year.

I would like to know why the state is having a retaining wall built near the Orinda turnoff. It seems to be of no use and even if needed why does it have to be so high? This sure seems to me to be a waste of money and is slowing the whole project down.

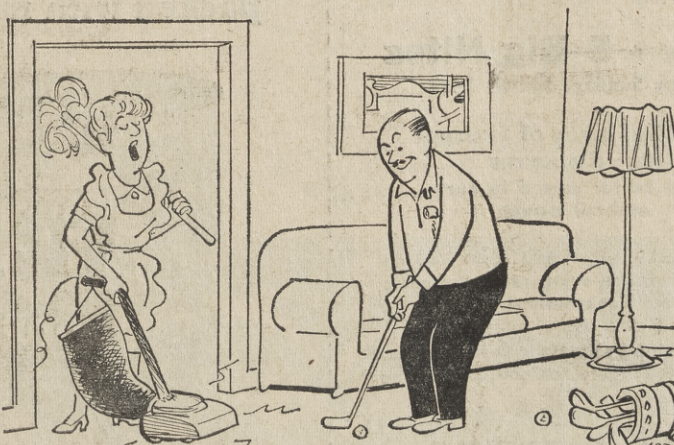

If the contractor in cooperation with the state engineers would concentrate on getting a third lane opened from Fish Ranch Road to crossroads everyone would be able to move along faster and smoother. They should also let the work that is necessary for the interchange near Kaiser quarry road go to the last if it is possible. The main problem is to keep as many lanes of traffic open as possible.

An idea that has occurred to me that is not related to the construction but has to do with traffic flow concerns the Orinda turnoff. Why not make three lanes of traffic on the lower end of the turnoff in front of the Moraga highway signal. The right lane should be for right turn only. The left lane for left turn only and a center lane from which cars could go straight ahead or turn right or left. Since Moraga Highway is two lanes in each direction at this point I think this would allow cars to be dispersed from the freeway much faster. I realize that if the new bus turnoff is to be built that this would probably make this idea impractical. However it would help in the meantime and would involve no cost except to paint some traffic lines.

As a matter of general interest about something that will affect all the traffic flow on this road what can you find out about the work to be done between Broadway (Oakland) and the tunnel. I see the state taking test borings now which is generally preliminary to putting work out for bids. I think this section of road will be the next bottleneck unless something happens pretty quick.

"FORE!"

4 a.m. Golf Lessons --- Just Wait!

By GEORGE COLBURN

What do you do in your spare time?

You'd like to do a lot more, but you haven't got the time? Is that what you say?

You like to bowl, but you can only do it four or five times a year? You like to golf, but that's a whole day of the weekend shot? You'd like to go to class at night and learn French, but you can't get away in the evening?

"Spare time." There's no such word in our perpetual motion society.

CHILDREN in suburbia take up mom's time. Commuting takes up dad's time. Relax on the weekend? That's a laugh! The weekend is the time to catch up on all the little things you put off during the week.

However, there is reason to believe you can do everything you want to do—in the not-too-distant future.

Everyone realizes that we must sleep one-third of our life away in order to live properly. Sometimes we try to do with less, but "what a sorry looking person" is the result.

What if we could get away with less sleep. What if we could get our "eight hours" in just two hours.

I would be all for it. How about you?

Just think of all the things you could do in your "spare time."

INSTEAD of having three or four hours in the evening you'd have 11 or 12. You could go to bed at 5 a.m. and get up at 7 a.m. fully refreshed and ready for work.

No, I haven't discovered any secret from the ancient Egyptians. The Russians (who else) claim they have a "sleep machine."

When an article was published on the machine, I was fascinated by the possibilities. Aren't you?

Physicians in the U.S. are now making tests with the machine. A recent report by well-known American doctors claimed just one hour with the machine has the effect of a full night's rest.

How it works? Well, the machine transmits harmless electrical impulses through the brain which quickly and painlessly brings about complete cessation of consciousness. The machine produces conditions exactly duplicating deep, natural sleep.

IT HAS ALSO been claimed the machine will help victims of nerve diseases.

The machine is called the electro-sone and it puts patients to sleep like in the same way a rocking cradle puts a baby to sleep.

The principle behind the Russian machine is simple. A weak, rhythmic electrical impulse is sent to the part of the brain which controls sleep and metabolism, lulling the patient into a deep, natural sleep.

The machine can be plugged into a regular simple electrical outlet.

The effect on our economy would be stimulating. Our leader in Washington should note this—in my opinion.

JAPAN (where else) already has a transistor model. I have not seen any in the U.S. yet, but I imagine we will soon.

College students, who have always tried to live on two hours sleep, now could continue on their mixed-up schedule and still stay awake in class.

Almost every writer would have best sellers because the American reading public would have hours and hours to read.

For the kids who play baseball, the lack of adequate diamonds wouldn't matter any more. They could play all night on the lighted ones.

OUR SCIENTISTS would have to come up with a way for the sun's light to linger a few more hours or else come up with a plan to light up this country of ours at least 20 hours a day. Our hours could be rearranged so we would work during the night hours and be off from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. (or the daylight hours.)

When one talked of people commuting by helicopters a few years ago, it was a big laugh. But, will our children be driving helicopters instead of cars in 20 years?

The sleep machine probably sounds just as silly now. But what does science and the future have planned for the human race?

It'll be interesting to watch. There were no cars when my father was a teenager. Now, he's flown on a jet across the country in four or five hours.

I might visit my son who is serving Uncle Sam on the moon by the time I'm as old as my father is now.

It tires me out just thinking about what is going to take place in coming years.

Will Taxes Be Higher Next Year? Worry Now!

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Do you think taxes were high this year? Well, folks, they will probably be higher next year!

"Hey, boss, what are you trying to do?" yelled Snoopy, the office cat. "Give your readers a heart attack?"

No, Snoopy, I'm just trying to be objective. We have nothing to gain by hiding our heads in sand. Everything points to higher taxes.

"Why is it necessary?" Snoopy asked. "Each year more and more people move in and they pay more and more taxes. Certainly our governmental agencies are collecting more tax funds each and every year."

More and more and more

Well, Snoop, I'm not an economist, nor am I an apologist for our public agencies which raise taxes. But think for a minute—and the problem becomes clearer. Thousands of people move in (and we can't be selfish and say that they shouldn't come to our wonderful area).

More people mean: more children, more classrooms, more teachers, more schools. There is little doubt that school taxes will continue to climb.

More people mean: more homes, more fire hydrants, more firemen, more firehouses.

More people mean: more traffic, more traffic signs, more policing, more roads and road repairs.

More people mean: more sewer and water facilities, more parks and recreation, more libraries, more flood control.

Existing public facilities become inadequate and must be replaced. Certainly, more people mean more personnel in government. And I have only scratched the surface in citing the problems we face.

Taxes relate to services

Current tax rates paid by more and more residents apparently cannot compensate for the services needed, so taxes are increased. We might decry higher taxes but we all demand services. And don't forget that costs continue to climb.

"Hey, boss, you're singing a different tune today," Snoopy retorted. "Often you needle county and other government officials. And you're painting an awful gloomy tax picture for the future."

Snoopy, I haven't put the old needle away. I don't think that the tax situation is insoluble and completely inevitable.

It is essential that every public official, whether a county supervisor or a director of the mosquito abatement district, should carefully look at every dime he votes for in the next budget. Every proposed budget item should undergo an acid test: is it absolutely necessary? If so, can costs be reduced elsewhere in the budget?

Cut and slice the budget

Every budget can be cut—whether it is your home, your business or your government. Our governmental agencies must become more efficient.

And we should ask for only those services that we can afford.

"What else can be done about taxes?" Snoopy asked.

Well, we should consider carefully how the tax base can be broadened. More heavy industry in the industrial sections of the county. More controlled "working areas" for light manufacturing (electronics, medicine, etc.) in feasible locations.

What do you do about it?

How many of us squawk like mad when we pay our tax bills, groan the rest of the year — BUT DO NOTHING ABOUT IT?

How long has it been since you wrote your congressmen, state legislators or contacted your local officials?

Each summer our school districts hold budget hearings, publicized in advance. Ditto other governmental agencies other times of the year. Have you ever been to one? Few, if any, "taxpayers" show up at these important hearings.

Do you ALWAYS vote in the various elections?

What's going on?

Do you keep informed of local and county news — much of which ultimately affects your tax bill, your community and welfare of your family?

Do you question candidates as to what they stand for?

If you think something is questionable, do you take the time to ask the public official for an answer? Have you ever taken a documented problem to the county grand jury? That is what a grand jury is for.

Do you work with others?

Do you participate in your local organizations? These and other groups, such as the Taxpayers Association, can be the watchdogs of the tax bill.

"Wait a minute, boss," mewed Snoopy. "you've been on that soap box long enough. By the way, did you ask Assemblymen Waldie and Knox and Senator Miller to hold the line on new taxes?"

For goodness sakes, Snoopy, I forgot. I'll do it right now. . . .

The Ski Line . . .

Skiers Given New Lease On Life by March Storm

By HEC HANCOCK

Hold on a minute, don't put those skis away in mothballs. Not just yet, anyway.

Just as we were getting ready last week with the post mortems on a dying ski season, the patient got up and tossed a wicked March blizzard at the parched Sierra.

For the first time this season, skiers were able to ski all the way down to the lodge in most areas.

DODGE RIDGE and Yosemite were able to fire up their tows for the first time this year.

Right now, the prospect for skiing during the Easter vacation, a poor bet this time last week, look much brighter.

Quick to take advantage of the refurbished snow pack, will be the long grounded skiing youngsters from Stanley School in Lafayette.

This enthusiastic group of skiers have had at least three planned trips called off.

THIS WEEKEND, they are optimistic of making a long delayed visit to Alpine Meadows.

Word has filtered down that Echo Summit Ski Area, kayeod for a time by insufficient snow, has resumed weekend operations. Daily operations are planned for Easter Week, April 6-14.

Three to four feet of snow fell, and the area's three rope tows and platter pull will be in operation once again.

CHIP CUNNINGHAM, the Las Lomas Sitzmark Ski Club prexy, was quick to take advantage of the new snowfall, getting a one day trip to Dodge Ridge in last Sunday.

Don Jensen, Las Lomas grad, has taken a semester off from his studies at Harvard, to do some mountain climbing.

Jensen will tackle the mountains in the southern Sierra, in the vicinity of Mt. Whitney.

He remains an avid climber despite a climbing mishap last year, that left him with a busted shoulder.

CLIMBING ON famed Mt. Washington in the east, Jensen and his climbing companion were caught up in an avalanche that plummeted approximately 1200 vertical feet down the mountain.

Miraculously, both escaped with relatively minor injuries.

Serious enough, but minor when you consider that the course of the avalanche went over several sheer falls of an estimated 150 feet.

And some people think skiing is dangerous.

Weather Ruins Fishing; Rod, Gun Club Installs

By GEORGE R. WHITE

The weather really loused up the fishing last weekend . . . although strippers were hitting out around bouys 5 and 6 . . . and a bit of trolling was indulged in down towards the race track . . . salmon drew a big blank up and down the line . . . cats are still good in Clear, Hennessy and Berryessa lakes . . . black bass are on a feed now, use a black eel, bayou boogie or Heddon's Lucky 13 in the shallows and you should come up with some. As I said last week they're just feeding before going on spawn, so this may not last long.

Last Saturday, Diablo Rod and Gun Club had their annual Trophy and Installation dinner — a delicious steak with all the trimmings.

The new officers for the year are: President, Bill Furnish; Vice-President, Bob Loeb; Sec. Treas. Neil Smith. A good time was had by all, and good luck to you new officers.

Walnut Creek Sportsmen are coming up with a new innovation. So circle June 2 on your calendar folks because they are going to have a Ham shoot and a Chuck Wagon breakfast.

It's open to the public and all for the price of 50 cents a head. Don't miss this, as from all reports the shooting should be keen too.

Concord Sportsmen have the foundation in for the new club house out by the range, and are now getting the blocks up for the walls . . . March 30 will mark a bar-b-cue chicken dinner and dance . . . a D-8 "cat" has been brought into the range property and they'll be grading like mad. Utilities are about finished to range buildings now. The month of April is their turn to operate the range and on April 21 they will have a ham or bacon shoot with prizes for all to compete for. Some of the matches will be 22 pistol, trap, big bore and running deer. It looks like the weather is starting to break but good.

Recently in the local metropolitan dailies, The Saturday Evening Post has managed to break into print. The SEP accuses Alabama coach Paul Bryant and U. of Georgia Athletic Director Wallace Butts of collusion and fixing the Alabama Georgia football game last fall.

According to the dailies earlier this week, Coach Bryant had taken a lie detector test and it came out in his favor. Now where does this leave the SEP? Exactly where I don't know, however I have my suspicions about this all-of-a-sudden "do-gooder" weekly journal.

Not too long ago as you remember, they (The SEP) gave the shooting clan a blast that was not in very good taste. In fact the blast was quite a bit without very good foundation in their editorials.

It appears to me that this publication is trying to hop on the "do-gooder" wagon and see what it can do. In case they don't know it they are doing more harm than anything else.

In my estimation they are trying to take the cloak of a sheep and the shooting clan can see right through it all, I'm sure.

I would advise watching this weekly journal. They act like they know what they're doing, but aren't sure just what both hands are doing at the same time.

We have plenty of eyes in our heads, so let's keep them cast in all directions.

Knight Golfers Defeat Trojans

Las Lomas golfers rolled to their second straight Foothill League win Monday with a 9-0 trouncing of Del Valle.

In other league matches, San Ramon drubbed Acalanes, 8-1, and Miramonte defeated Piedmont, 5-2, for its initial win.

Jim Rustad, Miramonte's No. 4 man, was the medalist in the clash with the Clan. He fired a 40.

At Round Hill Monday, Mike Williamson and Jim Roessler both shot 37s to pace the Las Lomas win.

Miramonte's No. 1 man, Rod Robinson, was defeated, 3 and 2, but Don Parce, John Spinola and Jim Trumbley all scored wins.

Perfect Game Hurlled by WC Pitcher at UC

Former Las Lomas pitcher, Richie Nye, now hurling for the University of California freshmen, threw a perfect no-hit, no-run ball game against South San Francisco High School in a game played last Tuesday at Haas Field on the Berkeley campus.

Nye faced only 21 batters in the seven-inning contest, and didn't allow a runner to reach first base. He was credited with 14 strikeouts.

Nye is returning to baseball action, after having to sit out his senior year at Las Lomas due to a broken leg sustained in basketball.

San Ramon and rapid Lincoln Arthur, who won the 100, 220 and broad jump, swamped Bishop O'Dowd, 64-43.

Piedmont, the team to beat in the FAL, won easily over Las Lomas, 65-48.

Bill Staley of the Knights was a double winner. He won the discus with a toss of 155-9 and the shot put with a heave of 51-3.

Tom Williamson took two events, the 100 and the broad jump for the Highlanders.

Finishing second was Mrs. Harry Yeomans.

Tied for third were Mrs. Richard Hauer and Mrs. Leo Frank.

Swim Champs Will Give Olympic Fund Aquacade

An Olympic benefit aquacade will be presented Sunday in Pleasant Hill, featuring championship swimmers from the entire central county area.

Proceeds from the public affair will be sent to the Olympic Committee to finance travel to the Olympic and Pan American games.

Some of that traveling will be done by four Contra Costa girls who will enter Pan American competition in Sao Paulo, Brazil, next month.

Linda and Judy McFadden of Walnut Creek, Kim Welshons of Danville and Papsie Georgian of Orinda represent four-sevenths of the U. S. Pan American team.

THE FOUR, with their three team-mates, Margie Laurence, Marcia Blixt and Marian Whitner, will perform as the Athens Water Follies team in the aquacade.

National championship competitors from the Howell Swim

School of Danville will also participate.

Miss Georgian, Acalanes High School senior and four-time U. S. Women's solo champion, will be the featured soloist.

In addition to synchronized swimming, the performance includes exhibitions by champion divers, including Al White, double Olympic champion and 10-time U. S. champion.

OTHER DIVERS performing include Morley Shapiro, Big Ten and NCAA champion, Orinda's Mike Sullivan, California State and Far Western age-group champion, and Pacific Association and Junior Olympic champion, Darlene Georgian, a sophomore at Acalanes.

Nationally famous comedy divers Houston Moore and Pete Wallace will round out the program.

The program, co-sponsored by the Athens Athletic Club and Milu-Howell Swim School, will be presented at the Pleasant Hill

Sport Nite to Name St. Mary's Top Coach

Athletics past and present will be featured in the annual Gael Sports Night, scheduled for Oakland's Colombo Club Thursday, March 28.

Sponsored by the Friends of the Renaissance, Saint Mary's College, the celebration is the athletic highlight of the College's Centennial.

Headlining the traditional observance will be the announcement of the "Coaches of the Century" in football, basketball, and baseball at Saint Mary's.

Recreation Park pool, 147 Gregory Lane at 2:30 p.m.

Donations at one dollar per person, may be made at the pool office in advance.

Tickets for the benefit may be purchased at these locations in Walnut Creek: Sports and Games, Locust Street; Boero's, North Main Street, and Milu-McPearson Union Station in Broadway.

Knights, CP Win With Long Ball

Las Lomas, combining effective pitching and the homerun play, swept to its third straight victory to highlight the non-league play during the past week.

Other FAL action found Miramonte dropping a pair, DeAnza took a make up of a rained out contest, 5-2, and Pleasant Hill topped the Mats 4-2.

San Ramon broke into the win column, defeating Amador, 7-2. Del Valle also racked up its initial win of the year with a 3-2 decision over Ygnacio Valley.

College Park snapped Acalanes' win streak at one as they dropped the Dons 6-3.

Next Tuesday marks the opening of league play in the CCD. Pleasant Hill will move over to Clayton Valley to tangle with the Eagles. Ygnacio Valley, will make its CCD debut against Antioch, and then follow up next Thursday with Clayton Valley at home.

Las Lomas 2, College Park 0
Sarge Kavert scored the first run of the season for the Knights as Gary Ford's double drove him home. Rich Bovo started on the mound, and was credited with the win.

Las Lomas 7, Mt. Diablo 0
The Knights racked up their second shut-out of the season. Bob Kreider got the starting call, and was declared the winning hurler.

The big blow of the game turned out to be Larry Steele's homer in the second with two on. The Knights had a big four run inning in the sixth, all runs coming on Red Devil miscues.

Las Lomas 8, Clayton Valley 3
The Knights found their eye for the long ball against the Eagles, as homers accounted for seven of the eight runs scored by Las Lomas.

Darryl Razzano, Knight catcher collected two round trippers. His first came in the opening inning, when with Kreider aboard, he banged one out for the circuit. Then in the fourth, he put another out of the park, scoring Bovo ahead of him.

San Ramon 7, Amador 2
Phil Kribel, San Ramon shortstop, broke up a tight ball game when he powered out a grand slam homer in the bottom of the eighth inning.

At the time, the Wolfpack had just forged into the lead. Kribel came to bat with Jerry Miller, Don Weir, and Steve Cryer filling the bags, and proceeded to unload his big blow just as his father walked into the park.

Bill Renshaw worked five innings on the mound, and was spelled by Tim Stewart for the balance of the game.

Other than Kribel, Weir, who was two for three, stood out in the hitting department.

Dons Rated Slight Edge In Tough FAL Title Race

The Foothill Athletic League batters will take their last practice swings this week, as next Tuesday, the FAL gets down to the serious business of deciding just who of their number will end up wearing the 1963 baseball crown.

As the FAL title chase gets underway, defending champion, Acalanes is rated a slight favorite to repeat.

Expected to make a serious bid to challenge Acalanes' dominance of the diamond sport, is a Miramonte team, liberally sprinkled with veterans.

SAN RAMON is expected to make a serious run for the top spot.

Las Lomas, who has impressed in the early season play, also has to be grouped with the serious contenders.

Kicking off action, Acalanes will host a greatly improved Piedmont team next Tuesday. Other opening day action will find Las Lomas moving over to tangle with neighboring rival, Del Valle. Miramonte will journey to Martinez to play Alhambra.

Thursday's slate will find San Ramon opening up with Alhambra at home. Acalanes and Las Lomas will renew their long standing rivalry on the Knight's diamond. Del Valle will invade Orinda for a contest with Miramonte.

THUS FAR, there has been no real standout in non-league season competition.

Acalanes has split the two games they have played. After opening with a 2-1 victory over Pleasant Hill, the Dons were defeated by College Park, 6-3, last Monday. Yesterday they played Mt. Diablo, and will wind up their non-league jousts with a game against the formidable University of California frosh tomorrow morning at Berkeley.

Coach Erwin Mattson has been giving everybody on the club plenty of work. To this point, each member of the mound staff has had a chance to work a few innings, and each has shown well.

The Dons have yet to really find their batting eye, but have plenty of good stickers in the lineup that will cause opposing pitchers plenty of trouble.

ACALANES is placing its hopes for a successful title defense on a well rounded pitching staff of Jeff Hearn, Al Johnson, Bob Strain, and Bill Elgard. These four will probably be the key to what success, or lack thereof, Acalanes enjoys this year.

Miramonte has won only one of their four outings. The Mats have come out on the short end against Berkeley, De Anza and Pleasant Hill. Only a late inning rally got them over Amador.

Thus far, Coach Darrell Chipman, making his debut in FAL diamond play, reports his club just hasn't jelled. They have been plagued with a rash of miscues afield, and haven't been overpowering at the plate.

Coach Chipman feels the potential is very definitely there. Once the early season kinks are worked out, the Mats will be in the race.

LAS LOMAS has compiled the most impressive record in the practice season. Thus far, they have won three straight contests, giving up but three runs in the process.

The Knights will close out their non-league play with a game with the Pleasant Hill Rams this afternoon.

The Knights' mound corps racked up successive shut-outs over College Park and Mt. Diablo, and allowed Clayton Valley a paltry three tallies.

Bob Kreider heads up the Knights' hurling staff. Behind Kreider, Rich Bovo has shown well to this point. Gary Ford has worked well, and Roy Ward, a transfer has also looked promising.

THE KNIGHTS have gone to the long ball in the past two games to account for most of their runs. Darryl Razzano picked up a pair of homers against Clayton Valley, while Rick Laven, Larry Steele each have one to their credit.

Gary Ford, alternating at first when he isn't pitching has been hitting the ball a ton so far this year.

It appears going into the curtain raiser, that if the Knights come up with a strong second pitcher, they will be tough to handle.

San Ramon has two more non league tilts before starting its league schedule. Right now, they have split the pair of games they played. After dropping the opening fray to St. Mary's of Berkeley on a muddy field, the Wolfpack turned back visiting Amador.

Thus far San Ramon's pitching hasn't come up to expectations. However, Coach Mike O'Gorman will have a strong club, and if the hurling can come through, a definite title threat.

PHIL KRIBEL, a transfer from Los Angeles, has been a real gem. Kribel led the game against Amador when he unloaded with a grand slam homer.

Del Valle after dropping the initial practice tilt to San Rafael, had their next contest rained out. So far the Trojans haven't put everything together.

While not expected to be a tip title contender, the Trojans should be greatly improved over their first year of play.

Piedmont, with 17 veterans, has been flexing its muscles this spring, and could make life real interesting for the rest of its FAL rivals.

Alhambra, with Coach Joe Reynolds, has won two while losing one in non-league play. Alhambra has always been a good baseball school, and after the drop off last year following their successful title quest of two years ago, appears ready to field a representative club.

Mats in Tennis Win Over Lowell

Led by Gary Rose, Miramonte beat Lowell of San Francisco, 5-2, in a tennis match played Tuesday in Orinda.

It was the first time in six years that Lowell has been beaten in match play.

Rose, the Mats' No. 1 man, was a winner along with Ron Hudson, Jeff Reiser in the singles.

In the doubles, Charlie Brock and Gary Doon combined for a Miramonte win as did John Cutler and Lorn Kahl.

Swim Wins for Knights, Dons, Mats

Swim victories were registered by Las Lomas, Acalanes and Miramonte to give the Foothill Athletic League a perfect record in their competition last week with strong non-league opponents.

Las Lomas, defending FAL swim champs, captured eight out of 11 events as they defeated Redwood High School, 60-35.

Acalanes displayed well-balanced overall team strength in downing a highly rated Fremont High School of Oakland, 53-42.

LAST MONDAY, Miramonte was the winner, 51-38, in its meet with Pleasant Hill.

Double wins for Las Lomas were turned in by Chris Ostrom, Don Smith and Bob Strand.

Big Shoe Stable Finish Brings Third Cage Title

Hitting for a torrid 26 points in the final quarter, Shoe Stable came from behind to upset the previously undefeated champions of league play, Aerojet, 75-63, in the Danville Basketball League Championship playoffs.

The win marks the third time the Shoe Stable entry has won the playoffs since it joined the loop in 1960. Only last year, when it was nosed out in the playoffs by Martinez, has the Shoe Stable missed.

Trailing by a point at the end of three quarters, Shoe Stable found the range, and the resulting 26 point surge, added up to an 11-point winning margin.

SHOE STABLE had fought its way into the final by turning back Danville Garage, 69-42.

Aerojet earned its final berth with a 57-47 victory over Wallace Realtors.

Heading up the Shoe Stable contingent was league leading scorer, Bob Metez. Metez had been a mainstay on the San Ramon High School teams of 1961-62.

Others comprising the Shoe Stable squad were Jim McNally, UC junior; Larry Weeshoff, ex of Glendale High School; Jim Butenschoen, UC JV basketball; John Stimel, all-league at Contra Costa Junior College; Bruce Crawford, San Ramon High School and Hastings Law College.

BILL LLOYD, former Las Lomas High School and Brigham Young University player, captained the Aerojet entry, and was the team's leading scorer.

Orinda Junior Net Play Slated for April 6-10

Drawing top seeded players from throughout Northern California, the Sixth Annual Orinda Junior Tennis Tournament will be held April 6-10, sponsored by the Orinda Country Club, Kevin Merrick, tournament chairman, announced today.

More than 450 entrants are expected to play in the well-known "Spring Vacation" tourney, Merrick said.

The five-day event is sanctioned by the United States Lawn Tennis Association and the Northern California Tennis Association.

ENTRIES ARE divided into single and double matches in four classes for both boys and girls.

They are: 18 years of age and under, 16 and under, 14 and under, 12 and under.

A special class for younger singles players, both boys and girls 10 and under, also is scheduled.

A total of 2200 entry applications have been mailed to clubs and courts throughout Northern California, but additional blanks may be obtained by addressing a postcard to Tournament Chairman Merrick at the Orinda Country Club, 315 Camino Sorbante, Orinda.

Deadline for receiving entries is Friday, March 29, Merrick said. Housing and most meals will be provided to players having to travel 50 miles or more, according to the Orinda pro.

Lowe, Jarrett Head New Group

Robert Lowe of Walnut Creek and Ralph Jarrett of Pinole have been elected chairman and co-chairman of the newly organized Council of Parents Groups for the Handicapped.

Twelve groups of parents in all parts of Contra Costa are represented, and additional groups are being solicited to join the Council, according to Lowe.

Members of the council accepted the philosophy of the council to "provide opportunity for representatives of the parents groups to meet together and exchange information; discuss problems and share program resources in the areas of public and community affairs."

The council also accepted the recommendation of Emery Nelson of the Neurologically Handicapped Society to endorse AB 464 authored by Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie.

The council agreed to send a letter to the assemblyman announcing action taken by the council. They also were urged to inform their own parents groups of the contents of the bill.

A report on the proposed Children's Institute and Training Center was presented by Ralph Jarrett, who said the county hospital is offering diagnostic services.

Representatives expressed concern as this service has not been made public knowledge and they did not know of its existence.

It was recommended by the council that a letter be addressed to County Medical Director Dr. George Degnan for clarification of these services.

Concert was also expressed at the lack of adequate evaluation and diagnostic services and that many parents had to take their children to San Francisco for this service. This also presented problems since they have a six months wait at the Northern California Cerebral Palsy Society and severe budgetary problems, spokesmen said.

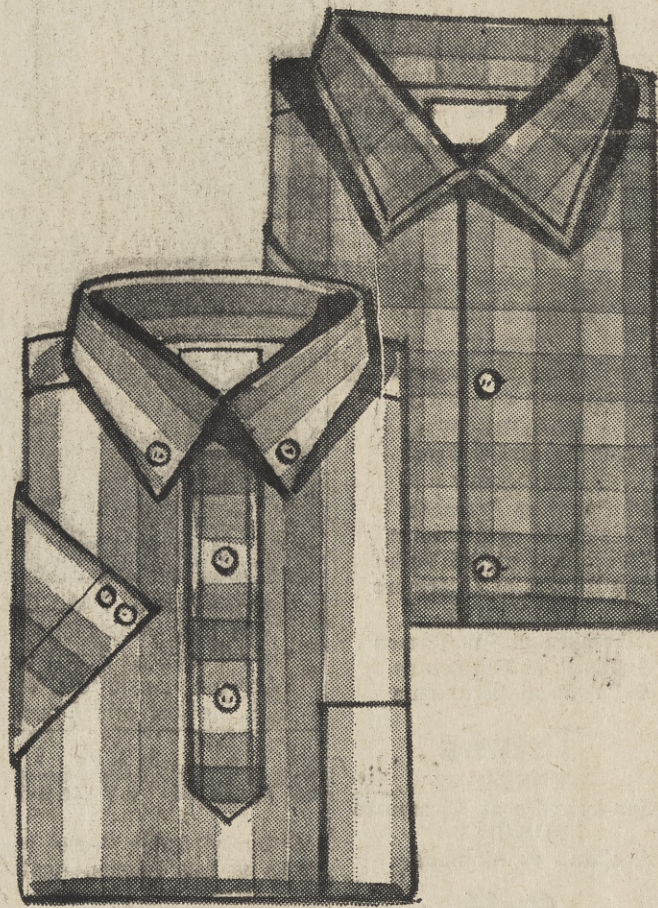

Jarrett reported on the proposed recreation program for the children. It was pointed out that the Greater Mt. Diablo Chapter of the American Red Cross had a Saturday morning program at St. Mary's College for the handicapped.

Don't Forget-It's Exhibits Will Highlight Tea By Volunteers

Arthur L. Seeley, agricultural commissioner, reminded all county dog owners yesterday that the deadline for dog licenses is March 31.

Effective April 1, the $2 penalty will be charged for late licensing.

The county ordinance code requires that all dogs be licensed within 30 days after reaching the age of four months. A valid rabies vaccination receipt must accompany each application.

Applications are obtainable at the Animal Control Center in Pinole and 4849 Blum Road, Martinez, the county clerk's office, city offices or the office of veterinarians.

Researchers are at work in more than 50 institutions to find causes and cures of crippling and means of improving the educational, emotional, social and vocational adjustment of crippled persons. When you give to Easter Seals you help expand research that will restore the physically disabled to productive living.

The Volunteer Bureau of Contra Costa County will present a "Volunteer Exhibit Tea" on Tuesday, at the Rancho San Miguel Swim Club in Walnut Creek. Mrs. Tudor Jones of Walnut Creek, Chairman of the event, announced that in addition to the annual recognition of the Bureau's hundreds of volunteers, this year's tea will feature exhibits to be sponsored by the agencies in which the volunteers "work".

Co-chairman of the committee planning the details is Mrs. Louis Pitts, Walnut Creek, who has arranged for past presidents of the Volunteer Bureau to pour, led by the current president, Mrs. John Selley of Walnut Creek.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Perry Conner, Mrs. Jack B. Cullen, and Mrs. Paul Cortese of Walnut Creek; Mrs. A. R. McGrath of Concord; Mrs. Richmond Stampley and Mrs. Robert Wade of Orinda.

Mrs. Arnold A. Blackmur of Moraga is in charge of exhibits. Easter Seals fight all crippling conditions, from disease, birth defects, accidents.

Let's Get a Job

Deciding on a vocation and how to prepare for it is one of the major decisions facing each high school student.

There are several thousand ways to make a living, yet only one or two occupations may hold any real potential for a specific student. Helping students reach a decision—the right decision—on the vocation in their future is one of the jobs of the high school.

Students in the Acalanes Union High School District each have their own counselor who works with them individually on their high school program, vocational investigation and selection of post-high school educational opportunities that meet their aptitude and their goals.

In addition to regular counseling and guidance services, the Acalanes district for the past three years has been sponsoring a summer career exploration program that provides an additional dimension for student opportunities to investigate the vocations that interest them.

Career Exploration Course signups for the 1963 summer program are now being conducted through April 15.

Students and parents interested may secure application forms from their high school counseling office. The course runs for six weeks from June 17 to July 26.

Businessmen and professional workers who may wish to cooperate with the Acalanes district's career exploration program by providing job opportunities are invited to call Las Lomas High School, YE 5-4110.

Students work on a volunteer no-pay basis.

Gas Station Law Being Drawn up

A proposed ordinance establishing a criteria for the location, design and operation of service stations may be finished in about three months, Anthony Dehaesus, associate county planner, told The Sun yesterday.

It will be submitted to the county's board of supervisors. "I would say that the location aspect of such an ordinance would be the most important," Dehaesus said. "The ordinance, if it's approved by the supervisors and that the county plan for cities and unincorporated areas to follow."

THE ASSOCIATE planner made his remarks following a meeting in Martinez recently to dovetail into problems created by service stations.

Dehaesus said a report of the meeting will be given the supervisors and that the county planning department will recommend the appointment of a committee of about eight persons to study the county's service station problem.

At the meeting in Martinez, Louis S. Chappellear Jr. of the Western Oil and Gas Association inferred that the county will of necessity have more service stations for the simple reason that the population is increasing.

"THERE'S BEEN an 18 per cent increase in the number of stations since 1958 and a 24 per cent increase in the number of cars," the association official told a group of planners and interested citizens at the meeting.

Planners in the audience disputed points made that service stations should be permitted uses in all business zones of a community.

Concord Planning Director Richard Stockwell said use permits are required of service stations, just like they are of any other drive-in type operations.

William Chilcote of the Lafayette Improvement Association suggested that different design standards might apply to different locations.

PLEASANT HILL City Councilman John Scaglione suggested that a service station dealer should market several different brands of gasoline. "In other words," he said, "I feel that the stations should get out of the real estate business."

Dehaesus read an editorial from The Sun, entitled "Going Broke Everywhere," as an example as to what can happen when too many service stations are kept in operation.

The oil men denied the editorial's implication that some stations which are losing money are kept open in order to retain the firm's name before the public and also hurt rivals.

Anderson of the oil association admitted that many stations losing money are being closed

"right and left" and those which stay open are there because the company can't unload the leases.

The Martinez session was called at the request of the oil firms who admitted they were perplexed over the public's attitude toward service stations in Contra Costa County.

Population May Soar to 1 Million

Contra Costa County's population increase in the years to developers of the county's proposed General Plan recently said.

Depending on economic and social factors, the county's population in 1985 could be about 1,100,000, Crichton Schacht, Contra Costa associate planner, said.

"It could range as high as 1,481,000 or as low as 744,000," he added.

SCHACHT'S remarks were made at the first public hearing on the proposed General Plan held since 1959.

The County Planning Commission gave tentative approval to the plan which is to be sent to the board of supervisors for public hearings and expected adoption.

Schacht said that the increased population will probably result in a 26 per cent decrease of the county's open land.

THE GENERAL PLAN was given another study after persons in the Moraga area had strongly objected to certain provisions of it when the plan was first presented to the supervisors almost four years ago.

Since then there has been a major revamping of the Moraga area general plan.

CRITIC VS. NOVELISTS—Alfred Kazin, critic, author and visiting professor of English at the University of California, leads off panel discussion on contemporary novels at St. Mary's College March 13. The other panelists are Herbert Gold (partially hidden) whose sixth novel is soon to be published; Evan S. Connell, Jr., author and contributing editor of Contact magazine, and George P. Elliott, author and visiting lecturer at St. Mary's. Over 500 attended.

NEW ANGLE—A twist on the eternal triangle is engaging county American Cancer Society leaders preparing for their April fund-raising and educational campaign. Seen here are (left to right) Mrs. James Douglass, Saranap chairman; Mrs. Charles Giguere, Lafayette chairman; County Chairman John L. Cooley of Walnut Creek, and Mrs. David R. Iventosch, Orinda chairman.

Easter-Egg Sale Feature Planned

A rummage sale, jointly sponsored by the Pleasant Hill, Walnut Creek, Danville, Orinda and Concord chapter of Parents Committee for Civic Responsibility, will be held Monday at the Concord Kiwanis Club, Sunset Avenue.

Proceeds will be used to stimulate interest in education on the primary and secondary level, according to Mrs. Davenport, chairman.

An "Easter-egg-hunt" bonus will be offered, Mrs. Davenport said. All items marked by a tag or a colored thread will be free, with a limit of three such items per customer, she explained.

For additional information, interested persons may contact Mrs. William Sanger in Walnut Creek.

$169,759 Tax Share to Co.

The state, counties and cities divided a total of $33,660,296 in the monthly three-way split of highway users taxes for February, State Controller Alan Cranston reported today.

Contra Costa County's share was $169,759.29.

Cranston said the total was divided as follows: $22,710,032 to the State Highway Fund for expenditure on highways, $7,887,160 to the counties and $3,063,104 to the State Highway Fund for cities.

$275,000 Suit Filed in Court

Harry A. Campbell, 33, of 162 Las Juntas Way, Pleasant Hill, recently filed a $275,000 damage suit for injuries he suffered in a crash last July 19 at the Oakvale Overcrossing above the Walnut Creek freeway.

The suit filed in Contra Costa County Superior Court was directed against Albert Schoppman, 42, and his wife, Ann Theresa, 41, of 2133 Hadden Road, Walnut Creek.

He was seriously hurt.

Name Dental Contest Winners

Miramonte—Stephen Cantrill, Brian Cartwright, Jan Chilton, Kathryn Davis, Barbara Hogle, Kathleen Knudsen, Michael Leahy, Robert Lester, Arthur Meader, Jack Osborn, Kennon White and Frederick Wright.

Job Needs of Youth is Topic

"Today's Horatio Alger—teenagers in search of pay and experience in the job market—needs the interest and help of his community," states Mrs. Robert T. Adams, president of the Central District Council of Community Services, in announcing a meeting on Youth Employment Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. at the Pleasant Hill Elementary School Multi-Purpose Room at 2097 Oak Park Blvd.

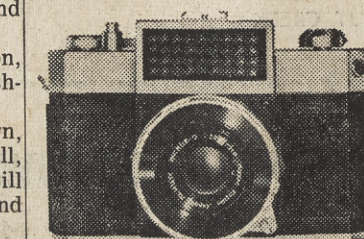

Proof that jobs for youth are tough to find but not impossible, if citizens are willing to invest time and effort, will be shown by examples of successful Youth Employment Projects now going on in Contra Costa, she said.

Speakers will be Milan Wight, work experience coordinator for Mt. Diablo Unified School District, and members of these area offices of the California State Employment Service: Jack Flannery, Pittsburg; George Benedetti, Walnut Creek and Elmer Homo, Berkeley.

Tanagers To Greet Springtime

Tanager Unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center is planning a spring fashion show luncheon Wednesday at the Orinda Country Club at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Gordon Schmidt of Orinda, president, announced that the theme will be Oriental.

She will be assisted by Mrs. Charles Strong, chairman; Mrs. J. L. Creagmile, decorations chairman, and Mrs. Charles R. Angell, Jr., publicity.

Tickets for the luncheon are being handled by Mrs. John Goldeen, 525 Moraga Way, Orinda, 376-5572.

Proceeds from the luncheon will be donated to the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center for its physical and occupational rehabilitation programs.

TANAGER UNIT of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center will officially greet spring with a fashion show luncheon Wednesday at Orinda Country Club. Mrs. Gordon Schmidt, president, pours for Mrs. J. L. Creagmile, decorations chairman, and Mrs. Charles Strong, chairman.

Doctors' Wives Plan Busy Day

Contra Costa Unit of the Medical Association Woman's Auxiliary will have a busy time today.

Many members are planning to attend a luncheon in Oakland this afternoon. And a theater party to the Actor's Workshop in San Francisco will attract many local doctors and their wives tonight.

Edward R. Annis, M.D., America's most skilled spokesman on public affairs of the medical profession, will speak on "Why the AMA Speaks Out on the Health Care Issue."

This will be a luncheon meeting this noon at Jack London Hall. Cost is $3 per person.

Hostessing for the unit will be Mrs. Louis E. Arnaud of Walnut Creek, president; Mrs. John Cheredes of Walnut Creek, president-elect; Mrs. Robert Pinger, Concord; Mrs. William Flood, Pleasant Hill.

Mrs. Pinger is eighth district councillor, Mrs. Flood is incoming historian.

Mrs. William Page of Antioch is chairman of tonight's champagne theater party to see "Volpone."

The $5 per couple includes champagne and canapes after the performance. Mrs. Louis E. Arnaud of Walnut Creek, president of the unit, announces that funds raised through this event will be used to further the philanthropic endeavors of the auxiliary.

For reservations, call Mrs. Julius Kanzel of Danville at 837-4024.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. at the Marine Theatre, San Francisco.

Officers Wives Marilyn Francis Becomes Mrs. Harold P. Coffin

Wives of retired officers of all the military services of the county will attend a luncheon Tuesday at Kellogg's Steak House, Walnut Creek.

Mrs. G. T. Hamilton of Walnut Creek, chairman, has planned the program, starting with social hour at noon, with luncheon scheduled for 1 p.m. Bridge and canasta will be played.

Mrs. H. A. Lincoln of Lafayette, chairman of the nominating committee, will present a slate of officers for the coming year.

Reservations are being taken by Mesdames Clarence W. Parham of Walnut Creek, Charles E. Mowry, Pleasant Hill; Harmon S. Kelsey, Danville; Chester H. Ennis, Concord; Melvin W. Wolter, Lafayette; William H. Harlow, Moraga, and George Chapman.

Hillcrest Congregational Church, Pleasant Hill, was the site for the marriage of Marilyn Francis and Harold Parker Coffin. The Rev. Eugene Sill officiated at the 2 p.m. service.

A large mixed bouquet of white winter flowers was enhanced by the green planter boxes of the church. A reception in the church hall followed the ceremony.

Marilyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allyn Francis, 150 Jackson Way, Pleasant Hill. She was graduated from P.H. High School, and is currently employed by a bank in Berkeley.

Harold is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee S. Coffin of Bollinger Canyon Road, Moraga. He also graduated from P.H. High. He will graduate from the University of California, Berkeley, next January.

Harold is in the reserves of the submarine branch of the Navy. He will receive his commission and serve three years active service after his graduation.

He is the grandson of Captain and Mrs. Harold Parker. Capt. Parker is a retired Naval officer.

Marilyn's grandparents are Oakland pioneers Gladys Fenton and the late Elmo H. Fenton.

Both the bride and groom have been active members since childhood in the Moraga Junior Horsemen's Association.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a wedding gown designed with a Belgian French lace bodice styled with long sleeves.

The skirt, fashioned with an empire waistline, flowed into a chapel train. Her shoulder length veil of silk illusion was held by a crown headpiece encrusted with seed pearls.

She carried a bouquet of white orchids and white roses.

Penny Wuerzberger of Pleasant Hill served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Laurie Francis of Pleasant Hill, Marilyn's sister, and Susan Coffin of Bollinger Canyon, sister of the bridegroom.

They were attired in emerald green satin dresses with half bell skirts and three-quarter length sleeves. Their bouquets were of white roses.

Donald Coffin, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Ushers were William Boeger, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and William Trelut, both of Moraga.

After a wedding trip to Pacific Grove, the newlyweds are at home in Berkeley.

Dental Auxiliary

Has Luncheon-Meet

Women's Auxiliary of the East Bay Dental Societies met recently in the Lanai Room of the Claremont Hotel.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. William C. Freitas. Mesdames Edward McBride, E. Allen Goldsmith and Kay Takooka assisted Mrs. R. W. Sibbet in receiving members and their guests.

Mrs. F. H. Norton introduced Mrs. Leona Mouton Nelson who presented her program "New York Plays and Musical Comedy Hits."

Susan Jensen Is Initiated

Susan Jensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claus Jensen, was initiated into Pi Chapter of Alpha Chi Omega at the University of California, Berkeley, recently.

Miss Jensen is a junior transfer student from Diablo Valley Junior College and is majoring in nutritional science.

JULIE ANN FORCHINI

David Carlson Will Marry San Bruno Girl

At an afternoon tea in San Bruno recently, Mrs. Frank Forchini announced the betrothal of her daughter to a Lafayette lad. Formally revealed was the engagement of Julie Ann Forchini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Forchini, San Bruno, to L. David Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Linton Carlson of Lafayette.

Julie Ann, an elementary education major at San Jose State, will receive her degree this June. She is affiliated with Sigma Kappa sorority where she lives. She recently revealed plans of her marriage to house members.

The benedict-elect attended San Jose as a business major. He is now associated in business with his father and brother in Oakland.

His sisters are Mrs. Jack Cottler and Robin Carlson.

A wedding in St. Robert's Catholic Church, San Bruno, is planned June 29.

CATHERINE CUTLER

Catherine Cutler to Marry Soon

Catherine Cutler will change her name to Mrs. Lawrence Dinean at the First Unitarian Church of Berkeley, April 6. Dr. Raymond J. Cope will perform the 3:30 p.m. service.

Catherine is the daughter of John A. Cutler, 81 Meadow View Road, Orinda, and the late Mrs. Cutler.

Catherine's engagement to Lawrence was announced immediately following the January 1 wedding of her father to the former Mrs. Mary Winter of Westwood.

Catherine attended Acalanes High School and the University of California at Berkeley, where she spent one year at the American University of Beirut, Lebanon. The bride-elect met her fiancé at Cal while both were singing concerts as members of the U.C. Men's Glee Club and U.C. Treble Cleg Society.

Carol Gardner of Lafayette will be Catherine's maid of honor. Other attendants will be Katherine Thornton, Alice Taylor and Marian Cutler, the bride's cousin.

John Brillhart will be best man. Ushers will be Jerry Jonas, Dodge Wallace, Tom Watrous and John Cutler, the bride's brother.

Three projects were named for the year at the monthly luncheon of the Mount Diablo YMCA Auxiliary. It was held recently at the 'Y,' 1537 Sunnyvale Avenue, Walnut Creek.

The spring card party will be held at the Diablo Country Club, May 15, 12:30.

Tickets for $2.50 will include dessert, door prizes and a flower arranging demonstration.

Mrs. Eve Thomas, Alamo, was named chairman.

Ticket chairman will be Mrs. Ginny Bry, Concord, with Mrs. Barbara Taylor, Orinda.

inda, and Mrs. Ruth Barcelon, Lafayette, as helpers.

Mrs. Doris Grandy, Walnut Creek, was chosen publicity chairman.

Others present at the luncheon included Mmes. Dorothy Anderson, Pleasant Hill; Barbara Storkersen, Jeanne Cramer, Doris Price, Janet Ivy and Jane Queen, all Walnut Creek.

Mrs. Bany Hall, Concord, is chairman of the newly organized ladies auxiliary.

Next luncheon meeting will be April 4 at the home of Mrs. Barbara Taylor, 14 El Patio, Orinda.

Panhellenic Date Circler

Local Panhellenic members and their friends are making up parties for the annual fashion show luncheon April 3 in the grand ballroom of San Francisco's Fairmont Hotel.

Hostesses from east of the tunnel include: Mmes. Leland Scott Jr., Kappa Alpha Theta, and John Farley Jr., Alpha Chi Omega, both of Lafayette; M. M. Rowley, Chi Omega, Walnut Creek; I. Berg, Delta Phi Epsilon, Concord, and William Johnson, Chi Omega, Moraga.

The show's theme "A Fashion Profile" will lend itself to a "Newsworthy Report" on the "Big Story" of new spring fashions.

Mrs. William Morris, Zeta Tau Alpha, is in charge of awards.

Tickets may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Charles O. Parsons, 524-6863.

'Magic Modes for March'

"Magic Modes for March" will be featured at the Therapy Center Terrace weekly fashions luncheon Monday.

Round-the-clock styles will be shown by "Irene Thies" of Walnut Creek at noon and at 1 p.m. Miss Thies will also display her spring collection of cocktail outfits.

Mannequins for this show will include the Mesdames C. Wadsworth White of Danville (Mary Doyle Unit), Ridgeway Woodburn of Danville (Mary Doyle Unit), and Raymond Bahaman of Walnut Creek. Mrs. Stuart Wight of Walnut Creek, a member of the Flicker Unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Cen-

Gourmet luncheons are served daily, except Sunday, at the Therapy Center Terrace, 1475 East Newell Avenue in Walnut Creek.

Menus are selected from treasured recipes by a committee of Therapy Center unit members.

Reservations for groups may be obtained by calling 925-0121.

'Woman of Week'

A prominent Walnut Creek club woman will be interviewed between 10-11 a.m. Monday over K-WHUN. Madie McLaughlin is mistress of ceremonies.

Heidi To Play Cards

Eight luncheon card parties will be held simultaneously by Heidi Chapter, Children's Home Society, Wednesday, in the homes of members, both active and inactive.

General chairman is Mrs. Robert Hancock of Mountain View Boulevard. Her co-chairmen are Mmes. Fred Jeninson and R. E. Mossman of Middle Road, Lafayette.

Final details of the occasion were worked out at the February meeting of the chapter in the Lafayette home of Mrs. O. E. Abel.

International Theme for W. C. Club

Members of the Women's Club of Walnut Creek and their guests are looking forward to their Tuesday luncheon. They will hear a talk on "Our International Situation."

Mrs. G. E. Rudeen from Riverside, California Federation of Women's Clubs chairman on international affairs, will be the guest speaker.

President Mrs. Ray L. Rosel will preside. Decorations will be carried out in the international theme by the Mmes. Peter Jarratt, Melvin Jory, Robert Nelson and Charles W. Dennis.

Hostesses for the day include the Mmes. Charles W. Dennis, Howard Grotts, W. G. Hege, Daniel P. Halstead, Ernest Holman, Chester Hook, Carl Johnson, Sarah Jones, Alta Mae Jones, W. B. Juett, and Miss Aileen Hagerty.

After dessert was served, Mrs. Ted J. Clark presided at the business meeting. Members completed the handmade table favors, tallies and programs, all in a springtime theme and received instructions for making the delicious luncheon dishes planned for the party.

Members entertaining in their Lafayette homes for the March event and their respective co-hostesses will be Mrs. Don Blackwood of Mountain View Drive, assisted by Mrs. Andrew Young and Mrs. R. P. Cornelison; Mrs. Robert H. Lockley of Siebert Court, with Mrs. Mervyn E. Wall and Mrs. L. A. Frank assuming hostess duties.

Mrs. Charles J. Morrill of Reliez Valley Road, aided by Mrs. John B. Stark and Mrs. James Newcomb; Mrs. Frank E. Rossi, Silver Springs Road, with Mrs. Eleanor Hinman and Mrs. Douglas Aiken serving as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Charles E. Grant of Los Palos Drive with Mrs. Earl S. Plescia; Mrs. Michael Colan of Sundale Drive with Mrs. Ted J. Clark; Mrs. O. E. Abel, Silver Springs Road, with co-hostesses Mrs. Earl Gudnason and Mrs. Tony Barante; and Mrs. John Harrison, Silver Springs Road, assisted by Mrs. Fred Jenkinson and Mrs. Everett Westphal.

Established in 1891, the Children's Home Society is the oldest and largest privately supported adoption agency in California. It serves children and parents of every race, faith and nationality.

Rowan to Give Benefit

A benefit luncheon and fashion show will be given by Rowan Branch of Children's Hospital of the East Bay Monday, at Mike Lynn's, Orinda.

Mrs. Eric Nielsen, Orinda, and Mrs. Patrick Elvidge, Alamo, are chairman and co-chairman of the event. Mrs. Robert Sherman of Lafayette is handling the publicity.

Chairman of the branch, Mrs. Alfred Masters Jr., will welcome the guests and introduce the commentator, Mrs. Lisa Kennedy.

The following members will model: Mrs. Pierre Taylor, chairman of the models; Mmes. Gary DuBois, William Farnsworth of Lafayette.

Mmes. Robert Munn, Walnut Creek; Phillip Chapman of Orinda; Norman Polse, Piedmont; Wallace Breuner Jr. and Herbert Stansbury Jr. of Oakland. Hair styles will be done by Robert and Angelo of Woodminster.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Munn, 925-4464.

Mrs. Van Dyne Pours at Tea

Orinda's Mrs. John Van Dyne, president of the Children's Theater, was among those to pour at the third annual membership tea for the Junior Center of Art and Science.

The tea was from 2-4 p.m. recently at the center, 3612 Webster Street, Oakland.

'Art in the Home' Tour Will Herald Spring

Heralding spring and women's eternal quest for beauty in her home, Valley Art Center will open four lovely Lafayette homes for viewing Wednesday.

The theme, "Art in the Home" is well defined in each of these tastefully decorated examples of suburban living at its best, says Mrs. Stephen Hunter, chairman (she is being assisted by Mrs. F. B. Mansfield, Jr. They have chosen the Richard Wards at 7 Cricket Hill, the Peter Pontings at 3837 Meadow Lane, the E. P. Sawyers at 4015 Canyon Road, and the William McKees at 1271 Redwood Lane, as the homes to be open to the public between 11 a.m.-3 p.m.

The fifth stop will be the Valley Art Center at 978 Hough Street in downtown Lafayette, where refreshments will be served. The March-April Sculpture show will be on view.

The house tour has many active Valley Art Center members busily engaged in performing the necessary details involved.

The fine example of Japanese architecture and decor in the Richard Ward home will be co-ordinated by Mrs. Ward herself. She is a past president of the women's board and an active person in art circles in the Bay Area.

The Peter Pontings' chairman is Mrs. William Emory of Moraga.

Her responsibility is co-ordinating and complementing the already excellent mode and motif of this home.

Mrs. William Wilkinson, whose husband is currently president of the center, will be in charge of the Sawyer home. Mrs. Harold Powell, another past president, will handle the William McKee home.

At the gallery, Mrs. Burchard Styles will be hostess chairman. Mrs. George Nash and Mrs. Charles Winslow, members of the women's board, will assist her.

The sculpture show has been assembled by Mrs. F. B. Mansfield, Jr. and Mrs. Julian Stern. They have asked many talented Bay Area artists to participate in the March-April exhibit.

They will have represented with works in clay, metal, stone, wood, by Henri Marie-Rose, Brieuc Broche, Jonathan Batchelor, Ruth Asawa, David Clay Jones, Jacques Schner, James Turner and many others.

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Theron Nelson, 283-2323; Mrs. Philip Angel, 283-6332, or at the Valley Art Center, 2-4 p.m.

Yosemite's Day of Wine

"The art of wine-making was brought to California by the Spaniards," according to John Melville in his "Guide to California Wines."

"The art of wine-tasting will be brought to the Walnut Creek Elks Club tomorrow from 5-7 p.m. by Yosemite Guild of John Muir Memorial Hospital," according to Mrs. Harold C. Bates, publicity chairman.

This annual fund-raising wine-tasting soiree under the joint chairmanship of Mrs. Don Campbell and Mrs. Ronald Findleton, Lafayette, will be set up in cooperation with Weibel Wineries of Mission San Jose with the traditional French bread and cheese stations between samplings.

Invitations, cleverly sketched in burgundy tones by artist Milo Muller, Pleasant Hill, have been sent out to over 300 couples. Ticket co-chairmen are Mrs. Ted Merrill, Alamo, and Mrs. Thurston Perry, Lafayette.

A replica of an old wine press mounted amid piles of grapes and flowers will highlight the decor while colorful "Wines of California" posters will line the wall.

Yosemite Guild is proud of its fund-raising record last year. (This John Muir group was neck and neck with top fund-raising Tuolumne Guild). It is looking forward to contributing a generous check to the Hospital Building Fund after the wine-tasting event.

All auxiliary monies are being earmarked for use in the hospital nursery.

Committee chairmen for the wine-tasting party include invitations, Mrs. Kjell Forsman, Lafayette and Mrs. A. Rippingham, Walnut Creek; food, Mrs. Ted Merrill and Mrs. Robert A. Miller, Alamo; arrangements Mrs. Jack Prescott, Moraga, and Mrs. Neal Campbell, Lafayette.

Decorations, Mrs. Richard Emory, Lafayette, and Mrs. Ralph Hanna, Walnut Creek, and hospitality, Mrs. James Terrell, Moraga, and Mrs. T. H. Elrod, Lafayette.

Flamingo Floral-Fashion Tea Winners Announced

As usual, the judges had a difficult time selecting the winners of the 10th annual Floral and Fashion Tea held recently at the Diablo Country Club.

Judges were Mrs. Clifford A. Smith, Lafayette; Mrs. Milton Bell, Walnut Creek, and Mrs. Edward C. Counter, Berkeley.

Mrs. Donald Johnson of Walnut Creek, general chairman, announces as following the sweepstakes winners:

Simplicity—Mrs. Fred Dixon of Walnut Creek for Women's Athletic Club.

Calliope—Mrs. F. W. Silsley Jr., Pleasant Hill, for Kaweh Guild of John Muir Hospital.

Adoration—Mrs. M. E. Boyd of Lafayette for Montclair Women's Club Garden Section.

Popular vote winners as announced by Mrs. Richard J. Mundt of Alamo, floral entry chairman, are: Simplicity—Mrs. Anthony Fereiro of Oakland, for Florence Crittenton Home.

Calliope—Mrs. Roy Siem of Concord for American Association of University Women, Concord Branch.

Adoration—Mrs. L. B. Grayson of Pleasant Hill for Diablo Garden Club.

Whimsical decorations by Mrs. Frank E. Fink carried out the Carnival in Color theme.

On the ramp which members of the other fifteen units paraded spring fashions were giant clouds with streamers and balloons.

A pole balancing clown held the traditional money tree. This year it was an umbrella. At the entrance a Flamingo pink fringed carousel with chartreuse horses. In the lounge in rainbow pinks a gay tight rope walker.

Miniature merry-go-rounds of ribbon and spring flowers decorated the tea tables, as in the past by Mrs. Edward Lazareschi of Walnut Creek, were uniquely outstanding.

Sigma Kappa Mothers to Entertain

Sigma Kappa Mothers' Club under the direction of Mrs. L. E. Davis of Orinda, vice president and general chairman, will give its annual spring luncheon and fashion show Tuesday at the Berkeley chapter house.

Mrs. C. K. Humphreys of Orinda is chairman of reservations. Mrs. J. P. Jones of Alamo and Mrs. L. A. Harper of Orinda are in charge of decorations.

The college girls will model and play several musical numbers.

Guinea Harper, Orinda, and Roberta Peters, Alamo, will be among those hosting.

Mothers who have reserved tables include Mrs. H. Bryant of Walnut Creek, Mrs. L. Bruzone and Mrs. J. P. Jones of Alamo, Mrs. W. I. Larsen of Danville, Mrs. R. F. Peters of Lafayette and Mmes. L. E. Davis, C. K. Humphreys, L. D. Rees and L. A. Harper of Orinda.

Presides at Guild

Mrs. John M. O'Brien of Walnut Creek presided at the monthly meeting of St. Mary's College Guild recently at the Alexander Hamilton Hotel, San Francisco.

'Poodles and Poufs'

"Poodles and Poufs," a dessert fashion show, March 30 at the Orinda Masonic Temple, will be presented by the Nina-Cha-Kiya Horizon Club.

Fashions by Ogdens of Orinda will feature teenage styles.

Various bazaar items will be for sale and numerous door prizes will be given to lucky ticket holders.

The models will be Carolyn Bradshaw, Walnut Creek; Judy Frazee, Concord; Cindy Hillis, Orinda; Lynn Joy, Concord; Nancy Loss, Walnut Creek; Wanda Maier, Orinda; Dianne Meyer, Concord; Barbara Norris, Walnut Creek.

Proceeds will be used by the Horizon Club to help in service work in convalescent homes in this area, and to furnish the Camp Fire House in Walnut Creek. For ticket reservations, please call Mrs. John Maier, 254-8572, or Mrs. Edward Meyer, 682-4104.

bara Norris, Walnut Creek.

Lynne Pears, Concord; Kathy Preszler, Concord; Linda Pye, Alamo; Sandi Recktenwald, Alamo; Sue Recktenwald, Alamo; Dana Sill, Concord; Carol Maurer, Walnut Creek; Mrs. Edward Meyer, Concord, and Mrs. Harry Loss, Walnut Creek.

Proceeds will be used by the Horizon Club to help in service work in convalescent homes in this area, and to furnish the Camp Fire House in Walnut Creek. For ticket reservations, please call Mrs. John Maier, 254-8572, or Mrs. Edward Meyer, 682-4104.

Yacht Club Plans Bridge

Local ladies of the Metropolitan Yacht Club will participate in the first of a series of luncheons and bridge parties April 1 at 11:30 a.m. at the Yacht Club, 1155 Embareadero, Oakland.

Mrs. Bruce J. Wood of Silverwood Drive, Lafayette, is chairman for the afternoon. She will be assisted by Mrs. Charles Weber, Jr., and Mrs. A. N. Warburton, Jr. Reservations may be made through Mrs. Bruce J. Wood, 254-4742, or Mrs. A. U. Warburton, Jr., 283-3291.

Winter Ball Date Is Set

This year's Winter Ball will be held Monday, December 23, according to an announcement from Hill Branch of the Children's Hospital, sponsor of the debutante event.

Three Pledges

Three girls from Orinda recently pledged sororities at the University of the Pacific to climax the spring rushing period on the Stockton campus. Nancy Henry and Sherry Odenthal pledged Kappa Alpha Theta. Elizabeth Hughes pledged Alpha Chi Omega.

Lonnie Anderson

Lonnie Is Ball Queen

Orinda's Lonnie Anderson was an attendant to the queen of the annual military ball at the University of Colorado Saturday night.

The affair is sponsored by the Army, Navy and Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC). Cadets and midshipmen voted by secret ballot for the queen earlier in the week.

Lonnie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Anderson of 32 Moraga Via in Orinda, is a junior majoring in political science.

She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and has served as a pom pon girl. Presently she is in Angel's Flight, the girls' honorary organization attached to Air Force ROTC.

While attending Miramonte High School, she was a cheerleader, a pom pon girl and was vice-president of her class one year.

Rebekah Begins Card Parties

Danville Rebekah Lodge No. 123, of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows Lodge No. 378, began a series of card parties at the I.O.O.F. Temple, Danville.

Lois Very, noble grand, is general chairman. She announces that the card parties will be each third Saturday of the month, with a choice of games to be played.

The public is invited. Donation is $1.

Assisting are Vivian Loggetta, Sue Johnson, Dellrose Phinney, Edna Dhug, Virginia Bell, Kathryn Johnston, Fern Hull, Lola Ide, Virginia Mills and Luciene Fairbanks.

Sierra's Springtime Dessert Bridge Is Set

The Alamo Women's Club, with festive springtime decor, will be the setting for a fund-raising dessert bridge, sponsored by Sierra Guild of the John Muir Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, Thursday at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Frank Young is chairman of the event, and Mrs. Henry Barg (685-5781) is in charge of tickets and reservations.

Refreshments chairman is Mrs. Eric Anderson, who was Sierra's president in 1962.

Assisting in the serving department are Mrs. A. B. Horstmann (Sierra's vice president), and the Mesdames James Duncan and Carl Christensen.

Mrs. John Ransome is in charge of hostesses, and Mrs. R. J. Walker will supervise table settings.

Telephone chairman is Mrs. Alice Osmundsen.

Pots of African violets will center each table and Easter colors will be used on all sides

—lavenders, pinks, yellows, blues, and pale greens, according to decorations chairman Mrs. Kenneth McCaslin of Alamo. Two "rare" trees will be prominently featured in the decor, with black branches and spring blossoms of pastel hue, the leaves of which will be new folded and fluted dollar bills. These will serve as charity awards at the end of the bridge party.

A fashion show spoof, titled "Springcapades!" will be presented during the serving of an elegant dessert.

Costumes will be shown from the John Muir Auxiliary's Garret, 3331 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette, with emphasis on the "way-out" styles sometimes to be found in that shop.

"A few of the better dresses will also be shown, to represent the true bargains also to be purchased in the Garret," says Mrs. Frank E. Thomas, who will be commentator for the show.

ANNIVERSARY TOAST—Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Clark of Lafayette are shown toasting their 16th wedding anniversary recently at the Flamingo Hotel in Santa Rosa. Helping them celebrate were Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Corbett of Walnut Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mahon of Orinda; Dr. and Mrs. Jack Evans of Oakland, and Messrs. and Mmes. Gus Chavalas, Richard Crouse, Robert Hildreth, James Morris and Ralph Sheneman, all of Lafayette.

Multi-Welfare Plans Needed For All Society

Modern-day welfare programs are largely designed to safeguard the health, safety, morals and well-being of the fortunate in a community, rather than to improve the lot of the unfortunate. Dr. Jacobus tenBroek, chairman of the California State Welfare Board, said recently. Dr. tenBroek, a University of California professor and a recognized authority on constitutional law, concluded Diablo Valley College's "Challenges for Americans" lecture series with this observation, plus some critical comments on the practical application of the Declaration of Independence statement that "all men are created equal."

"ALL MEN? Well, not quite," Dr. tenBroek said. "Not Negro slaves, owned by Jefferson among others; not Indians, not the deprived and downtrodden generally—or at least not just yet."

There has been little improvement since the Declaration, and today the constitutional power of the states to deal with the poor "is the police power to preserve public order, quarantine contagion, protect morals and to maintain safety."

Bedding Plants Now Will Give Summer Cheer

Color as it comes from bedding annuals is the gardener's best weapon against the summer doldrums. When the bluish of spring is gone and the heat begins to take its toll, a bed of stocks or a bright border of marigolds is just what the doctor ordered to cheer you up.

WHEN PLANTING, pay special attention to your color combinations. Annuals offer you a chance to create many pleasant contrasts. White stocks are dazzling in their own right, but think of them with a foreground of pink snapdragons, themselves fronted by blue mounds of ageratum. There are so many possibilities.

Certain annuals seem best when planted in beds of single colors. Others, such as zinnias and verbena, have strong colors, seem more effective when mixed. We can't imagine a bed of zinnias all in one color being half so dazzling as the rich combination which mixed colors offer.

Don't overlook the little annu-showier varieties. The alyssum is in favor of the bigger and faces in recent years, including this year's All America selection, Rosie O'Day.

LOBELIA is always striking with its lace-like masses of tiny blooms. And the clear blue of ageratum is unmatched in any other garden flower. Try these in massed beds or in edgings.

We caution once more against the practice, prevalent among some gardeners, to underplant annuals. Don't try to stretch a dozen plants over an area that could take two dozen. It's better to clump your colors, if you haven't enough to mass it.

Buy by the flat, and you won't have to worry about it.

More than a million men and women are cooperating with the American Cancer Society in a six-year study of the possible relationship of cancer to human living habits. These participants are interviewed annually by 68,000 specially trained volunteers.

77 Top Scholars

A record seventy-seven Acalanes Union High School District students have been named California scholarship semifinalists.

Assistant superintendent for education in the Acalanes District, Leland Russell, observed that "the high number of semifinalists is tribute to the academic excellence of the students themselves and the fine instructional job done by their teachers."

Acalanes District winners:

ACALANES High School, Lafayette:
Robert V. Brand, Joann E. Brooks, Janis K. Brubaker, Christine E. Gard, Roy J. Johnson, Carolyn McClung, Katherine E. Nichols, Alice C. Nimmo, Barbara L. Nimmo, Judith D. Prichard, Linda J. Rockwell, Carolee Smith, Jonnie S. Thomas, and Howard C. Towt.

DEL VALLE High School, Lafayette-Walnut Creek—David Anderson, Richard Brown, Eve Cushman, John Colwell, Raymond Roberts, James Norrish, Bruce Frediani, George Hawkes, Lorraine Abbott, Raymond Cox, Ken Floyd, Darrell Dalby, Ken Kogut, and Charles Nugester.

LAS LOMAS High School, Walnut Creek — Leonard J. Harrison, Raymond N. Palmer, Nora K. Banwell, Kent M. Soeters, Robert B. Odell, Otto C. Schatz, Toni Letendre, Susanna M. Carlson, Marilyn D. Ream, Mark A.

Schimbor, Bryan W. Brown, Peter F. Melnicoe, William T. Egan, Cornelis Langewis, and Julie A. Edwards.

Robert A. Nelson, Roger R. Pitto, James A. Roessler, Janet K. Long, Richard D. Laven, Martha G. Boycheff, Robert W. Crooks, Frances C. Utterback, Caren D. Knight, Geraldine F. Weil, James E. Cooper, and Peggy A. Low.

MIRAMONTE High School, Orinda-Moraga — Jan Chilton, Kennon White, Fred Wright, Robert Lester, Stephen Cantrill, Arthur Meader, Michael Sorem, Barbara Hogle, Wenda Maehler, and Roberta Nichols.

Bruce Baldwin, Christine Block, Michael Dauphinee, Robert Nickerson, Carol Nelson, Ronald Winkler, Carol Kanerva, Janice Cattolica, Donald Littleton, Wendy Minor, and Marion (Mimi) Loomis.

Woman Given County Honor

Mrs. Evelyn Stanger, 74 Eckley Lane, Walnut Creek, was honored last week as the first "Girl Friday" of Contra Costa County.

The event is to be on a monthly basis with a county worker given recognition for performing superior work.

Mrs. Stanger is a typist-clerk in the county clerk-recorder's office in Martinez.

She was introduced to the board of supervisors and awarded gift certificates by several Martinez merchants.

Mrs. Stanger has a daughter, Barbara, who attends Las Lomas High School, and a son, William, a student at Walnut Creek Intermediate School.

Sheriff's Sgt. Resigns Post

Arthur H. Ojaska recently resigned his position as sergeant in Sheriff Walter F. Young's Department.

Sgt. Ojaska, 42, resides in Oakley.

He had been a member of the sheriff's department since September 14, 1953 and in the capacity of Sergeant, had been assigned to the detective division.

Judges Select Legion Orator

Tom Waller, speaking on aspects of the American constitution, won the Ninth District American Legion oratorical contest in Walnut Creek recently.

Waller, of Richmond, won over Bruce Allen, San Ramon Valley High; Richard Laub, Clayton Valley High; and Kenneth L. Heiges, Pleasant Hill High.

He will compete against Bay Area winners in hopes of proceeding to state and national competition, according to Legion spokesman James T. Chang.

DVC Lecture on Social Patterns

"Gone with the Wilderness," the last of a series of filmed wildlife tours to be presented by Diablo Valley College, will be shown in the college gymnasium at 8 p.m. next Friday.
